GERMANS BEATEN BY OUR INFANTRY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
With the American Army in France, June 16 (9 p. m.)—Three platoons of fighting Americans, standing bravely by their guns under the most terrific bombardment the Toul sector has known in many weeks, fought to a standstill a vastly superior German attacking force in an encounter at Xivray this morning. With their artillery giving wonderful co-operation, the Germans were completely repulsed as they were on May 26, when they were driven back without taking a single prisoner.
As in the attack of May 26, the assault was made by storm troops brought up for this fight, and they were under orders to take the American positions at any cost. But the Boches were compelled to return to their own lines badly cut up and mangled as well.
Our artillerymen deserve great credit for their part in defeating the Boches.
It is certain that the German forces can be estimated at 600 men and that they suffered heavy losses in the killing and wounding of many French civilians in a village behind the lines which was the most pathetic. Many of those had gathered on the steps of a church and were conversing after mass when a big shell burst causing numerous casualties.

O'LEARY BEING BROUGHT BACK

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 17.—Rumors that Jeremiah O'Leary, Irish agitator, who was captured near Portland, Oregon, by government agents had been "smuggled" back to New York packed in the building where federal court is in session today at the trial of John J. O'Leary, brother of the erstwhile fugitive. The crowd dispersed when it was announced the former editor would not appear in court today. He is known to be enroute to New York under a heavy guard.

WILSON ASKS FOR APPROPRIATION

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 17.—President Wilson, in a letter to Chairman Sherley of the House appropriations committee read in the house this afternoon in which he asked that a fund of $50,000,000 be put at his disposal for expenditure during the next fiscal year, said he would "feel personally crippled" should any obstacle be put in the way of appropriations for the committee on public information.

SERIOUS FIRE AT LAWRENCE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Lawrence, Mass., June 17.—The townhouse section of Lawrence, near the business district, is threatened with destruction by one of the worst fires in the history of the city which broke here this afternoon. Three alarms were sounded.

BOYS GOING OVER FAST

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, June 17.—The arrival of American troops in Europe is now eclipsing all records, the Morning Post stated today. Week-end scenes of ports of debarkation are described as "amazing."
Triple Shooting.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 17.—Believing his relatives responsible for the breaking up of his home, Fred Lefkowitz, 34, who arrived here today from Detroit, shot his mother-in-law, Mrs. Cecilia Newman, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Valero Berz, in the breast and then turned the weapon on himself. The three were taken to a hospital in a serious condition, where Lefkowitz died.

Cut Knee on Glass.
Lawrence, the young son of Lawrence Conroy, of 102 Broadway, while playing in Kingston Point Park Sunday afternoon, fell and cut his knee cap on a broken bottle that lay on the ground. The wound bled freely and two soldiers passing by bound up the wound until a physician could take a few stitches in it.

AUSTRIAN DRIVE GETS POOR START

Allied Troops Recover Nearly All Ground Lost in Initial Phase of Toul Drive on Italian Front—Italians Were Prepared.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Rome, June 17.—The initial phase of the long expected Austro-Hungarian offensive in the Italian theater of war, which was launched on a front nearly 100 miles wide on Saturday morning, has ended in failure.
Using the German style of massed formation attacks, the Austro-Hungarians drove against positions held by the Italians, the British and the French. They succeeded in crossing the Piave river at two points and gaining slightly in the mountains in the sector of the Asiago Plateau, but were thrown back to their old positions at many points.
Without waiting for the drive to assume full proportions, the British, the French, the Italian troops began a series of savage counter assaults on Sunday morning, inflicting tremendous losses and driving back the Toul horde.
At last reports violent fighting was still raging all along the zone of combat.
The Austro-Hungarian offensive did not take the Italians by surprise. They were fully prepared for it and when the Austrian batteries began their preliminary cannonading on Saturday morning with drumfire the Italian batteries replied at once.
The most furious fighting has centered at the end of the Brenta valley, in the eastern part of the Asiago Plateau sector, around Monte Grappa, and further to the southeast in the region of the middle Piave.
Nearly everywhere the allied line held with firmness of the granite mountains over which the fighting raged. But in the region of Monte Asolone (on the eastern fringe of the Asiago Plateau) and at the apex of the Monte Solovara salient, the attackers managed to fight their way into a few advanced positions. The Piave was crossed from the eastern to the western bank in the region of Norcia (about 25 miles north of Venice) and in the neighborhood of Fagare (between 11 and 12 miles south of Fagare). Fagare is on the Oderza-Treviso Railway, along which the Austro-Hungarians tried vainly to advance in the direction of the later city.
The Austrians have tried to throw reserves into the action and since dawn Sunday morning, the Alpine valleys have resounded with the thunder of battle.
Strong counter attacks on Asolone heights, and Mount Solovara have held the Austro-Hungarians in check, and also drove them back from the height ground, where in the first stages of the rush, they held some first line Italian defense works.
Not only have the Italians inflicted terrific losses upon the Austro-Hungarians but have captured over 3,000 prisoners as well. More than ninety of these were officers.
Allied airmen have played an important part in the battle and at least 31 Austrian machines were shot down in fighting high above the mountain tops.
The Austrian war office, in an official report issued on Sunday claimed the capture of 16,000 Italian, French and British prisoners. As to the gains the statement claimed that the Piave had been crossed at numerous points, and that advances had been made in the mountains, as well as along the Oderza-Treviso Railway.

BOAT UPSET MYSTERY SOLVED

The Misses Marie Sass and Agnes Huffer are none the worse this morning for the wetting they received at Kingston Point last night when their canoe upset.
In company with two Kingston young men (Italians) they had been paddling on the river and while disembarking at the dock near the bridge the canoe was accidentally turned over. All were easily rescued.

French Honor Private Dutton.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 17.—The first American to die on German soil was awarded the Croix De Guerre by the French government, according to today's communiqué from General Pershing.
"Private W. J. Dutton, who belonged to the American troops operating in the Vosges," says the communiqué, "was killed by machine gun fire on the day after his unit entered the line. He received the Croix De Guerre as the first American to die on German soil. As the division to which he belonged has now been identified, this information which was transmitted confidentially on May 27th, may now be published."

High School Maroon Out.

The High School Maroon, the school year book, is now on sale both at Forsyth & Davis' and at the high school. It contains an interesting quantity of news notes of high school during the past year as well as the photographs of the graduating class and a short sketch of each one. The book this year reflects great credit on those who had it in charge, and is one of the best ever issued by Kingston's students.

COUGHNIN IS IN TOURS, FRANCE

Is Evidently Learning Language Rapidly and Getting Plenty of Recreation—Big Doings at Y. M. C. A.
Mrs. James Coughlin of Washington avenue, has just received the following very interesting letter from her son, Corporal Edmund Coughlin: May 28, 1918.
4th Co., 2nd M. M. Regiment, 2nd Aviation Instruction Center, Tours, France.
My dearest Mother:
Just received your letter yesterday along with ten others and am answering it tout-de-suite. Meh comprenez-vous? I suppose you will be surprised when you read the heading of my letter and see that I have Tours, France, as destination, but that is allowed from now on to relieve congestion of mails, and I think much is to be accomplished by the change. Most of my letters have taken about three weeks or a little better (worse) in arriving, and I think one week of that will be cancelled by the new schedule. Here's hoping
Did you get the pictures that were taken of us while on a trip through some pretty country near here? We have been having excellent weather for the last few weeks and it has beautified everything accordingly. There are lilacs galore, both white and pink, and wisteria may be seen taken in almost any farmhouse in or near this section.
Flower beds are laid out with that Parisian style of attractiveness and surely command the attention of anyone visiting these lands, as the odor arising would even make you stop, look, listen. The vegetables can't be left out either, though they don't contain the pollen of the plentiful pansies. The macaroni fields are in a class by themselves and require an enormous amount of space for production, as it has to be raised in abundance to supply little Italy. After gazing over about ten acres, it takes the appearance of a space where the size diminishing as the distance increases. So much of our products over here, although I should mention that figs grow right here in camp and were a new sight to me. Vineyards are plentiful and this fall I hope the grapes are. No watermelon as far as I know.
We have been having big doings at our Y. M. C. A. Many prominent speakers have addressed us on different topics, although they were all related to war in some way. The Craig Company, formerly of Boston, Mass., also made her appearance, and the first of any theatrical company to offer their services for overseas entertainment, played here to a full house a play entitled "Baby Mine." The boys greeted them with a hearty welcome and couldn't give them too much praise for their efforts to entertain us. Elsie Janis, also made her appearance, and you can imagine what kind of a greeting she would receive. She is even a better actress in reality than in the movies. Last night we had Consul Saronea, who spoke on the future of Russia and enlightened us on any question we wished to ask him. After his first brief speech he was assailed with many questions about this struggle and made himself clearly understood in all his answers. Tonight there isn't anything doing, so I'm taking advantage of the unusual opportunity and fulfilling my desire at the same time to send you at least one letter a week.
This week we also have "Memorial Day," which is a holiday for us all. I suppose we will drill or be in a parade or something similar, as walking is a very beneficial exercise, they say, in the army. I don't think we are going as far as Berlin, but will let you know if I am in my next letter. With the help of God and the Kingston policemen I think we could do it.
The girls from the telephone station and some Red Cross nurses gave a dance last Saturday night and it surely brought back remembrances of some good times in the States. They are planning to have one every Saturday night. "What could be sweeter?"
As it is now after 5 o'clock, and 5 in the morning comes so soon after midnight, I'll have to make it snappy and get my lines ready to crawl under. No chance or time to be sick.
Expect to go bathing in another week, but if Mississippi wears her New Jersey, what will Delaware? Idaho Alaska, but I got a non-transparent pair of B. V. C.'s that will just suit the case, barring shrinkage, and will endeavor to do my bit by initiating same next Sunday, to the best of my ability.
Trusting you are all as well and contented as I, and expecting to hear from you very, very soon, I will close this chapter.
Your loving son,
(Signed) EDMUND.

Leino shot and killed his wife and then ended his own life. There were no signs of a struggle.

PUT MARRIED MEN IN FIRST CLASS

But Few Registrants Who Are Married, Will Be Put in Deferred Class—Recent Marriage Cases to Be Reclassified.
Under the amendment to the selective service rules married men within the draft age, including those who registered the fifth of this month, will have but little show of being put in deferred classes.
Married men who registered this month, who were married since May 15, 1917, and claim deferred classification will not have their claim allowed, unless the dependent is a child born or unborn before June 9th, 1918.
Even in the case where there is a child, if it is proven that the mother's income is large enough to take care of her and the child, the registrant will be put in Class I.
Local board for Divisions 1 and 2 of Ulster county have received the following instructions relative to the new amendment:
"The fact of dependency resulting from the marriage of a registrant who has become twenty-one years of age since June 5th, and who has married since the date of the introduction of the joint resolution in Congress requiring his registration, to wit, January 15, 1918, will be disregarded as a ground for deferred classification."
"If a registrant who has attained the age of twenty-one since June 5th, 1917, and who has contracted marriage subsequent to the date of the enactment of the Selective Service Law, to wit, May 18th, 1917, but on or prior to January 15th, 1918, claims deferred classification on the ground of dependency resulting from his marriage the fact of dependency resulting from his marriage will be disregarded as a ground for deferred classification, unless the dependent is a child of the marriage, born or unborn, on or prior to June 9th, 1918, in which case such a registrant upon satisfactory proof being made shall be placed in Class II."
"If a registrant, other than one who has attained the age of twenty-one years since June 5th, 1917, who has contracted marriage since May 18, 1917, claims deferred classification on the ground of dependency resulting from his marriage, the fact of dependency resulting from his marriage will be disregarded as a ground for deferred classification, unless the dependent is a child of the marriage, born or unborn on or before June 9th, 1918, in which case such a registrant upon satisfactory proof being made shall be placed in Class II."
"Nothing contained in this amendment to Rule V shall be construed as requiring the transfer to Class II of any registrant who has been finally classified in Class I on the affirmative finding that his marriage since May 18th, 1918, was made with the primary view of evading military service."
"All local boards should forthwith reclassify all cases involving marriage since May 18, 1917, in accordance with the above."

WAR AT A GLANCE

After long and careful preparation, the Austro-Hungarian offensive which is doubtless planned as a coordinated part of the grand Austro-German campaign to crush the Allies in western Europe before America can get her full strength in the field, has been commenced over a front of approximately 100 miles in Italy.
The first 48 hours of fighting, during which the Austrians are reported to have sixty divisions, or 720,000 men, found the Italians and their Franco-British allies, fully prepared at every position to withstand the onslaughts and at no place have the Huns been able to make any big gains.
As the drive flared up on the southwestern front, hostilities on the great battlefields in France dwindled down to a minimum.
Not one of the big Tonic offensives that have been started since March 21 have proved so disastrous to the attacking forces as that which the Austrians launched between the Asiago Plateau and the Adriatic Sea on Saturday morning. The fighting has been different from that of any drive begun this year.
In the initial stages of the assaults, before the Austrian blows had lasted twenty-four hours the Italians and their allies were delivering furious counter attacks all along the line, meeting blow for blow, and driving back the Austrians at practically every point where they had succeeded in overrunning the Italians advanced positions.
In none of the four big offensives begun by the Germans in France since the middle of March, have the Allies been able to strike back so quickly and so vigorously.
This resulted chiefly from the careful preparations that had been made by the Italians and their allies.
They fully expected shocks and had immense quantities of men, guns and ammunition massed at the points where it was certain that the blows would fall.
The Austrians evidently planned a vast converging movement against the Italian positions on Bassano and Treviso.
The armies that struck on the eastern fringe of the Asiago Plateau and around Monte Grappa had hoped to sweep southward through two valleys. The westernmost of these valleys contain an excellent highway of communication stretching to Bassano, which is the terminus of a railway line. The valley to the east contains the railway line running from Feltre to Irtadella and Treviso. At the same time strong assaults were thrown forward to force crossings of the Piave river, especially in the sectors of Novosa, (Montello) Fagare (where the Oderza-Treviso Railway crossed the Piave) and in the region of San Dona Di Piave, which is only 17 miles northeast of Venice.

Some Austrian troops did succeed in getting across the river, but the scheme as a whole proved a complete failure. The Austrians employed German tactics of using quantities of gas shells in their preliminary cannonading and of throwing forward the storming troops in massed formation, but whether or not the high command of the German army is directing the enterprise is not yet plain.

There is a division of opinion between European military critics as to the latest offensive against the Allies. Some believe that the German Kaiser insisted upon it in an effort to allay the allied pressure in France, hoping that the French and British and possibly the Americans would send reinforcements into Italy.

Our artillerymen deserve great credit for their part in defeating the Boches. It is certain that the German forces can be estimated at 600 men and that they suffered heavy losses as the Huns lay out side of their barbed wire waiting to follow up their own barrage with an attack. The killing and wounding of many French civilians in a village behind the lines which was the most pathetic. Many of those had gathered on the steps of a church and were conversing after mass when a big shell burst causing numerous casualties.

O'LEARY BEING BROUGHT BACK

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 17.—Rumors that Jeremiah O'Leary, Irish agitator, who was captured near Portland, Oregon, by government agents had been "snagged" back to New York packed in the building where federal court is in session today at the trial of John J. O'Leary, brother of the erstwhile fugitive. The crowd dispersed when it was announced the former editor would not appear in court today. He is known to be enroute to New York under a heavy guard.

WILSON ASKS FOR APPROPRIATION

London, June 17.—The arrival of American troops in Europe is now eclipsing all records, the Morning Post stated today. Week-end scenes of ports of debarkation are described as "amazing."

Cut Knee on Glass.

Lawrence, the young son of Lawrence Conroy, of 102 Broadway, while playing in Kingston Point Park Sunday afternoon, fell and cut his knee cap on a broken bottle that lay on the ground. The wound bled freely and two soldiers passing by bound up the wound until a physician could take a few stitches in it.

AUSTRIAN DRIVE GETS POOR START

Allied Troops Recover Nearly All Ground Lost in Initial Phase of Teuton Drive on Italian Front—Italians Were Prepared.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Rome, June 17.—The initial phase of the long expected Austro-Hungarian offensive in the Italian theater of war, which was launched over a front nearly 100 miles wide on Saturday morning, has ended in failure.

Using the German style of massed formation attacks, the Austro-Hungarians drove against positions held by the Italians, the British and the French. They succeeded in crossing the Piave river at two points and gaining slightly in the mountains in the sector of the Asiago Plateau, but were thrown back to their old positions at many points.

Without waiting for the drive to assume full proportions of momentum, the gallant Italian troops began a series of savage counter assaults on Sunday morning, inflicting tremendous losses and driving back the Teuton hordes.

At last reports violent fighting was still raging all along the zone of contact. The Austro-Hungarian offensive did not take the Italians by surprise. They were fully prepared for it and when the Austrian batteries began their preliminary cannonading on Saturday morning with drizzle the Italian batteries replied at once.

The most furious fighting has centered at the end of the Brenta valley, in the eastern part of the Asiago Plateau sector, around Monte Grappa, and further to the southeast in the region of the middle Piave.

Nearly everywhere the allied line held with firmness of the granite mountains over which the fighting raged. But in the region of Monte Asolone (on the eastern fringe of the Asiago Plateau) and at the apex of the Monte Solarola salient, the attackers managed to fight their way into a few advanced positions. The Piave was crossed in the region of the western bank in the region of Nervessa (about 25 miles north of Venice) and in the neighborhood of Fagare (between 11 and 12 miles south of Fagare). Fagare is on the Odersea-Treviso Railway, along which the Austro-Hungarians tried vainly to advance in the direction of the latter city.

Strong counter attacks on Asolone heights and Mount Solarola have held the Austro-Hungarians in check, and also drove them back from the height ground, where in the first stages of the rush, they held some first line Italian defense works.

Not only have the Italians inflicted terrific losses upon the Austro-Hungarians but have captured over 3,000 prisoners as well. More than ninety of these were officers.

Allied armor have played an important part so far in the battle and at least 31 Austrian machines were shot down in fighting high above the mountain tops.

The Austrian war office, in an official report issued on Sunday claimed the capture of 16,000 Italian, French and British prisoners. As to the gains the statement claimed that the Piave had been crossed at "numerous" points, and that advances had been made in the mountains, as well as along the Odersea-Treviso Railway.

BOAT UPSET MYSTERY SOLVED

The Misses Marie Sass and Agnes Huffer are none the worse this morning for the wetting they received at Kingston Point last night when their canoe upset.

In company with two Kingston young men (civilians) they had been paddling on the river and while disembarking at the dock near the bridge the canoe was accidentally turned over. All were easily rescued.

French Honor Private Duryton.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 17.—The first American to die on German soil was awarded the Croix De Guerre by the French government, according to today's communiqué from General Pershing.

"Private W. J. Duryton, who belonged to the American troops operating in the Vosges," says the communiqué, "was killed by machine gun fire on the day after his unit entered the lines. He received the Croix De Guerre as the first American to die on German soil. As the division to which he belonged has now been identified, this information which was transmitted confidentially on May 27th, may now be published."

COUGHLIN IS IN TOURS, FRANCE

Is Evidently Learning Language Rapidly and Getting Plenty of Recreation—Big Doings at Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. James Coughlin of Washington avenue, has just received the following very interesting letter from her son, Corporal Edmund Coughlin: May 28, 1918.

4th Co., 2nd M. M. Regiment, 2nd Aviation Instruction Center, Tours, France.

My dearest Mother: Just received your letter yesterday along with ten others and am answering it tout-de-suite. Meh comprenez vous? I suppose you will be surprised when you read the heading of my letter and see that I have Tours, France, as destination, but that is allowed from now on to relieve congestion of mails, and I think much to be accomplished by the change. Most of my letters have taken about three weeks or a little better (worse) in arriving, and I think one week of that will be cancelled by the new schedule. Here's hoping.

Did you get the pictures that were taken of us while on a trip through some pretty country near here? We have been having excellent weather for the last few weeks and it has beautified everything accordingly. There are lilacs galore, both white and pink, and wisteria may be seen growing in almost any farmhouse in or near this section.

Flower beds are laid out with that Parisian style of attractiveness and surely command the attention of anyone visiting these lands, as the odor arising would even make you stop, look, listen. The vegetables can't be left out either, though they don't contain the pollen of the plentiful pansies. The macaroni fields are in a class by themselves and require an enormous amount of space for production, as it has to be raised in abundance to supply little Italy. After gazing over about ten acres, it takes the appearance of spaghetti, increases. So much of our products here, although I should mention that figs grow right here in camp and were a new sight to me. Vineyards are plentiful and this fall I hope the grapes are. No watermelon as far as I know.

We have been having big doings at our Y. M. C. A. Many prominent speakers have addressed us on different topics, although they were all related to war in some way. The Craig Company, formerly of Boston, Mass., and the first of any theatrical company to come to France for overseas entertainment, played here to a full house, a play entitled "Baby Mine." The boys greeted them with a hearty welcome and couldn't give them too much praise for their efforts to entertain us. Elsie Janis, also made her appearance, and you can imagine what kind of a greeting she would receive. She is even a better actress in reality than in the movies. Last night we had Consul Saronea, who spoke on the future of Russia and enlightened us on any question we wished to ask him. After his first brief speech he was assailed with many questions about this struggle and he answered himself clearly understood in all his answers. Tonight there isn't anything going, so I'm taking advantage of the unusual opportunity and fulfilling my desire at the same time to send you at least one letter a week.

This week we also have "Memorial Day," which is a holiday for us all. I suppose we will drill or be in a parade or something similar, as walking is a very beneficial exercise, they say, in the army. I don't think we are going as far as Berlin, but will let you know for certain in my next letter. With the help of God and ten Kingston policemen I think we could do it.

The girls from the telephone station and some Red Cross nurses gave a dance last Saturday night and it surely brought back remembrances of some good times in the States. They are planning to have one every Saturday night. "What could be sweeter?"

As it is now after 8 o'clock, and 5 in the morning comes so soon after midnight, I'll have to make it snappy and get my letters ready to crawl under. No chance or time to be sick.

Expect to go bathing in another week, but if Mississippi wears her New Jersey, I will Delaware, or Idaho Alaska, but I got a non-transferable pair of B. V. C's that will just suit the case, barring shrinkage, and will endeavor to do my bit by initiating same next Sunday, to the best of my ability.

Trusting you are all as well and contented as I, and expecting to hear from you very soon, I will close this chapter.

Your loving son,
(Signed) EDMUND.

Couple in Death Pact.

PUT MARRIED MEN IN FIRST CLASS

But Few Registrants Who Are Married. Will be Put in Deferred Class—Recent Marriage Cases to be Reclassified.

Under the amendment to the selective service rules married men within the draft age, including those who registered the fifth of this month, will have but little show of being put in deferred classes.

Married men who registered this month, who were married since May 18, 1917, and claim deferred classification will not have their claim allowed, unless the dependent is a child born or unborn before June 9th, 1918.

Even in the case where there is a child, if it is proven that the mother's income is large enough to take care of her and the child, the registrant will be put in Class 1.

Local board for Divisions 1 and 2 of Ulster county have received the following instructions relative to the new amendment:

"The fact of dependency resulting from the marriage of a registrant who has become twenty-one years of age since June 5th, and who has married since the date of the introduction of the joint resolution in Congress requiring his registration, to wit, January 15, 1918, will be disregarded as a ground for deferred classification."

"If a registrant who has attained the age of twenty-one since June 5th, 1917, and who has contracted marriage subsequent to the date of the enactment of the Selective Service Law, to wit, May 18th, 1917, but on or prior to January 15th, 1918, claims deferred classification on the ground of dependency resulting from his marriage, the fact of dependency shall be disregarded."

"If a registrant who has attained the age of twenty-one since June 5th, 1917, and who has contracted marriage since May 18, 1917, claims deferred classification on the ground of dependency resulting from his marriage, the fact of dependency shall be disregarded."

"If a registrant, other than one who has attained the age of twenty-one years since June 5th, 1917, who has contracted marriage since May 18, 1917, claims deferred classification on the ground of dependency resulting from his marriage, the fact of dependency shall be disregarded as a ground for deferred classification, unless the dependent is a child of the marriage, born or unborn, on or prior to June 9th, 1918, in which case such a registrant upon satisfactory proof being made shall be classified in Class II."

"If a registrant, other than one who has attained the age of twenty-one years since June 5th, 1917, who has contracted marriage since May 18, 1917, claims deferred classification on the ground of dependency resulting from his marriage, the fact of dependency shall be disregarded as a ground for deferred classification, unless the dependent is a child of the marriage, born or unborn, on or prior to June 9th, 1918, in which case such a registrant upon satisfactory proof being made shall be placed in Class II."

"Nothing contained in this amendment to Rule V shall be construed as requiring the transfer to Class II of any registrant who has been finally classified in Class I on the affirmative finding that his marriage since May 18th, 1918, was made with the primary view of evading military service."

"All local boards should forthwith reclassify all cases involving marriage since May 18, 1917, in accordance with the above."

Miss Winifred Smith of 60 East Chester street, is spending some time in New York city.

Mrs. John Douglas was removed from 92 Clinton avenue to the Kingston City Hospital in the city ambulance on Saturday.

Mrs. Sarah Bartlett of No. 16 Wilbur avenue, who has been confined to her home by illness for the past three weeks, is still ill.

Mrs. B. F. Herrick of Stamford, N. Y., was a guest last week of her brother, Herbert Bell, and wife, on Liberty street, this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lenehan of Athens, N. Y., motored to this city on Sunday and visited Mr. and Mrs. James F. Dwyer on Broadway.

Mrs. Brand and daughter, June, have returned to New York after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. J. Reifenberg on Connelly Heights.

C. Arthur Dolson, painter and decorator on Broadway, has been awarded the contract to paint the exterior and interior of the Industrial Home.

William A. Hapeman of 265 Washington avenue, former marketman on North Front street, has been engaged by P. A. Lasher as a meat cutter and salesman at Lasher's market, Broadway.

The Servo Society of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Rensselaer will have its annual sail on the Hudson river, coming to Kingston Point Park on the Day Line steamboat on July 2.

Miss Louise A. Cockburn, of the commercial department of Spencer's Business School, has been placed in an excellent position as bookkeeper and clerical assistant with the Saugerties and New York Steamboat Company at Saugerties, N. Y.

The many friends of John P. McCaffrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. McCaffrey of 162 Downs street, this city, will be pleased to learn of his graduation from Cathedral College, New York city, Thursday, June 13. He will enter St. Joseph's Seminary, Duaneville, in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. DeGraft of this city, accompanied by Miss Louise Snyder, motored to Wellesley College, Mass., last week to be present at the graduation exercises of the daughter, Miss Jane C. DeGraft, who graduated with a class of 329 Friday, June 14th. They returned Sunday, bringing with them Miss Jane and the sheepskin.

WAR AT A GLANCE

After long and careful preparation, the Austro-Hungarian offensive which is doubtless planned as a coordinated part of the grand Austro-German campaign to crush the Allies in western Europe before America can get her full strength in the field, has been commenced over a front of approximately 100 miles in Italy.

The first 48 hours of fighting, during which the Austrians are reported to have sixty divisions, or 720,000 men, found the Italians and their Franco-British allies, fully prepared at every position to withstand the onslaughts and at no place have the Huns been able to make any big gains.

As the drive flared up on the southwestern front, hostilities on the great battlefields in France dwindled down to a minimum.

Not one of the big Tonic offensives that have been started since March 21 have proved so disastrous to the attacking forces as that which the Austrians launched between the Asiago Plateau and the Adriatic Sea on Saturday morning. The fighting has been different from that of any drive begun this year.

In the initial stages of the assault, before the Austrian blows had lasted twenty-four hours the Italians and their allies were delivering furious counter attacks all along the line, meeting blow for blow, and driving back the Austrians at practically every point where they had succeeded in overrunning the Italians advanced positions.

In none of the four big offensives begun by the Germans in France since the middle of March, have the Allies forces been able to strike back so quickly and so vigorously.

This resulted chiefly from the careful preparations that had been made by the Italians and their allies. They fully expected shocks and had immense quantities of men, guns and ammunition massed at the points where it was certain that the blows would fall.

The armies that struck on the eastern fringe of the Asiago Plateau and around the Monte Grappa salient to sweep southward through two valleys. The westernmost of these valleys contain an excellent highway of communication stretching to Bassano, which is the terminus of a railway line. The valley to the east contains the railway line running from Feltrino to Udine and Treviso. At the same time strong assaults were thrown forward to force crossings of the Piave river, especially in the sectors of Novara, (Montello) Fagare (where the Odersea-Treviso Railway crosses the Piave) and in the region of San Dona Di Piave, which is only 17 miles northeast of Venice.

Some Austrian troops did succeed in getting across the river, but the scheme as a whole proved a complete failure. The Austrians employed German tactics of using quantities of gas shells in their preliminary cannonading, and of throwing forward the storming troops in massed formation, but whether or not the high command of the German army is directing the enterprise is not yet plain.

There is a division of opinion between European military critics as to the latest offensive against the Allies. Some believe that the German Kaiser insisted upon it in an effort to ally the allied pressure in France, hoping that the French and British and possibly the Americans would send reinforcements into Italy.

There is no question, however, that the Central Powers are now making their supreme effort and the French and Italian theatres are now linked up as one in the world's interest in the war.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, June 15.—Passersby have been admiring the past week a very handsome sign in light brown with gold letters that has been placed on the Hunt Memorial Building, Canal street side, above the part now the new home of The Home National bank. It adds to the attractiveness of the handsome building.

A very interesting descriptive letter from Lieut. Roger McElhone Smith from a rest camp in France was received by his parents, Rev. and Mrs. George H. Smith, during the past week, and was published in the Journal. The Journal received a very patriotic letter from J. Leslie Shurtler, who with several other Ellenville young men are in France in the Ambulance service. They were at that time at the base camp in a French village with quarters in a picturesque monastery built 580 A. D., but while being well treated Leslie wrote that he was anxiously awaiting orders to hustle the ambulances up to the firing line.

CATSKILL LANDS
RIPARIAN RIGHTS

Arguments At Troy Relative To Property Taken For Catskill Reservoirs—One Commission Replaced; One Appointed.

Judge Howard at his special term at Troy on Saturday listened with the closest attention to a large array of lawyers, who pointedly and without reserve called his attention to the rights of property owners in Ulster, Greene and Schoharie counties, whose property is taken by the city of New York for its great Catskill aqueduct and reservoirs. The first case that came up was the motion of the city to set aside the report of the Elting commission to Sands, the owner of Glenice Falls, the city claiming the award was excessive; that Sands had no rights of pondage, and that he had bought the property on speculation with a condition in his contract that it could be canceled as a result of the $2,500 he paid down as liquidated damages in case New York did not take the waters of the Esopus. John Mack of Poughkeepsie, who represented Mr. Sands, denied the absence of pondage, and claimed that Sands had at least two miles of the stream in which to impound waters. Mr. Grosan represented the corporation counsel. The next matter that came up was the application of the city for the appointment of a commission as successors to the Proper, Stevens and Taylor commission, whose award for property taken at Gilboa has been the subject of much unfavorable comment. Judge Clearwater, who with Judge Grant, represents a large percentage of these claimants, stated that he trusted the commission would re-appoint that commission for the reason that it had not afforded claimants an adequate opportunity to present and try their claims, but largely had devoted the time to the personal affairs of the members of the commission; that they had submitted claimants to an unjudicial and prejudicial cross-examination of the people of Gilboa in addition to the cross-examination of the corporation counsel, and had demonstrated that they had not a proper conception of the gravity and importance of the matters involved, and he filed a protest to that effect signed by many of the people of the Schoharie river valley. The judge said he desired to disabuse the court of the impression that these claimants were suplicants or that the city of New York was a benevolent municipality bestowing gratuities, and that he desired a commission which would have an adequate comprehension of the protection which the constitution and the laws gave to people whose property was taken by a great municipality for the benefit of that municipality; that the acquisition of the people of Gilboa from the Schoharie valley where they lived was as absolute as the expulsion of the Moors from Spain. It was not a case of the taking of the property of isolated farms and dwellings, but a case where an entire community with its dwellings, its business places, its churches, its schools, its grave yards and one fell stroke were driven away, wiped out as thoroughly as thought by a calamity of nature. That the constitution and the legislature had conferred inalienable rights upon these people which the city of New York from the beginning had sought to minimize and in the process of minimization constantly had asked judicial aid. It was to the courts alone that these property owners could look for protection, and that protection only could be given by the selection and appointment of proper commissioners who had an adequate conception of the gravity and importance of the matter entrusted to them. Mr. Grosan said that he was not asking for the reappointment of the commission, but was leaving that matter entirely to the court. Judge Howard asked what difference it made who was appointed so long as they were good men, to which Judge Clearwater replied that that question had been asked from the bench before, but that it was notorious that men had been selected and appointed who lacked the proper requirements for the position, and it was to assist the court to avoid making such a judicial error that he had spoken with the earnestness with which he had addressed Judge Howard. The third matter to come up was the re-appointment of a commission in place of the Betts, Pratt and Ehlman commission. Judge Clearwater, representing a large number of claimants, said that there was no objection to the personnel of that commission, although he was of the opinion that in some instances the awards made by them were hardly adequate to the injury sustained. William D. Brinnier said that he wished to impress upon the court the fact that no commission should be appointed which consisted of a lawyer from the city of New York and of two laymen. He insisted that a lawyer should be taken from one of the counties in which the lands were situated, and urged very strongly that a forum be afforded in which claimants could try their cases. There was a long discussion in which Mr. Brinnier, Arthur Brown, Andrew J. Cook, Senator Walton and Judge Clearwater took part as to whether riparian rights were within the definition of real estate, or of depreciation in value of lands not taken. Judge Clearwater insisting that they were within the definition of real estate, and he read that portion of the statute which he claimed covered and sustained his contention. Arthur Brown and Mr. Cook were of the same view. Mr. Grosan claimed that the court on this application could not appoint a commission if the taking of the stream of the Esopus was held to be real estate, because no maps had been filed, and no advertisement made. Mr. Brinnier contended to the contrary, claiming that the matter was now fully before the court; that the court had the absolute power to appoint a commission, and that no further proceedings were necessary to confer power and jurisdiction for that purpose. It was finally agreed that all the lawyers should send a draft of the order, which they thought he had power to and should grant. The next matter which came up, and which occupied a long time, was the objection of the city to the award of the Elting commission for the Martin Cantine and Diamond Mills and other riparian properties at Saugerties. The city by Mr. Grosan moved to set these awards aside as excessive. Howard Chipp and Judge Severin B. Sharpe, who appeared for the claimants, discussed the matter from every angle of the law and the facts, claiming that the awards were fully sustained by the evidence. The last matter which arose was the objection of the city to the first separate report of the Betts, Pratt and Ehlman commission, the city moving to set aside many of the awards as excessive. These awards heretofore have been published in The Freeman, and the matter for the claimants was presented by Senator Walton, Arthur Brown, F. E. W. Darrow, Judge Jenkins, Van Etten and Cook, Milton C. Auchmoody, and Brinnier & Canfield.

A telephone message received here this morning states that Judge Howard replaced the Proper, Stevens, Taylor commission by a commission consisting of Judge Smet of New York, George Van Valkenburgh of Catskill, and Charles Lockwood of Troy; that he appointed a commission to hear the Yale quarry and other claims consisting of Charles Schwab of New York, a Mr. Diehl of Troy, and John J. Birmingham of Kingston.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of Helen Virginia, infant daughter of Cornelius C. and Estella Oliver, was held this afternoon from the family residence in Marbletown with interment in the Marbletown cemetery.

The funeral services of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Demark of Bridgeport, Conn., were held at 458 Washington avenue, this city, at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Rev. V. D. Mattice officiating. Interment at Montrose cemetery.

The body of Mrs. Sarah Burch, who died at her home in Brooklyn last February, arrived in this city Sunday and was taken to High Falls for interment by undertaker E. A. Kelly. The Rev. E. A. Bookhout of Port Ewen officiated at the funeral services.

Sanford P. Magee, a well known resident of Woodstock, died suddenly at his home in that place on Sunday, June 17, aged 72 years. He is survived by his wife and one son, Jesse Magee, of Shultis Corners. Funeral services will be held at his late residence on Wednesday, June 19, at 1 p. m. Interment at Woodstock.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Hughes Brill was held from the late residence, 124 Wurts street on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The services were conducted by the Rev. A. J. Fuller, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, of which she was a loyal member, assisted by the Rev. R. H. Miller. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The bearers were Harry Tremper, George Canfield, Samuel Ivory and Frank Tongue. The interment was in Montrose cemetery.

Isabella Wakefield, wife of John Bailey of No. 56 Montrose avenue, died Sunday evening after an illness of only four days. She was born in Brooklyn and had lived in this city for the past twenty years. She was an active member of the Church of the Holy Spirit and was held in high esteem by all who knew her. Besides her husband she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. George MacEwen of Jersey City and Miss Fannie Wakefield of Brooklyn, and a niece, Miss Edith M. Wakenan, who lived at home. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Catherine, widow of Michael Keating, died Friday at her home, No. 54 Seavore street, after a long illness. She was a woman who was highly regarded by all who knew her. She is survived by six daughters, Mary, Alice, Nellie, Josephine, Catherine and Cora, and two sons, John at home, and William, now at Camp Wadsworth. The funeral will be held from the late residence Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and thence to St. Mary's Church where a requiem mass will be celebrated for the repose of her soul. The interment will be in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Mary McLean McCullough, widow of John McCullough, died Sunday morning at her home, No. 33 Bone street after a long illness in her 80th year. Mrs. McCullough was long an active member of the Roman Catholic Church, and was held in high esteem by all who knew her. She was born in this city, the daughter of John and Mary McLean. She is survived by the following children: Dr. Robert McCullough, former Alderman William McCullough, Miss Mary McCullough, Miss Margaret McCullough of the high school faculty, Miss Anna McCullough, a member of the faculty of School No. 2 and Hugh McCullough. Mrs. McCullough was a woman of Christian character and greatly endeared herself to all who knew her. The funeral will be held from the late residence on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, officiating. The interment will be in Montrose cemetery.

L. A. A. O. H., Division No. 5, are anticipating a record breaking crowd at the annual dance Tuesday evening, June 18, at Knights of Columbus hall, Broadway. A drawing card will be the farce entitled, "Waiting for the Trolley," played by a well trained cast of local amateurs. A feature will be one of our late war songs, sung by Little Cora Shader. Little Miss Harriet Preer will render a piano solo. Music for dancing by "Reggy" Palen's orchestra. Accompanist for musical numbers, Miss Gertrude Reiser.

General Wood Assigned.

By Telegram to The Freeman, Washington, June 17.—General Leonard Wood has been permanently assigned to command of Camp Funston, Fort Riley. It was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

OF MILITARY TYPE

Jersey, Gabardine, Serge, Cotton, Crash or Linen Materials.

Made With One Short and One Top Coat—Small, Close Reefed Hat Should Be Worn.

For traveling, especially on a long trip by motor, a suit like that in the sketch would be an admirable selection. It may be developed in any one of a number of fabrics, such as Jersey cloth, gabardine, heavy serge and other procurable wool materials, and cotton khaki cloth, crash or linen. Khaki colored gabardine was chosen for the suit as designed. It is decidedly military in cut and finish. It is made with two coats, one the suit coat proper shown on the figure, the other a top-coat that is virtually full length, and in cut and finish an exact replica of the short suit coat.

The skirt, ankle length, buttons at the side front, and the sleeves, as will be noted, are finished with a row of buttons from wrist to elbow. A small close-reefed hat should be worn with a suit of this type, and of course the accompanying blouse should be plain and mannish. Washable satin and crepe de chine are excellent selections for a tailored blouse, as these materials launder well and easily, and of course do not rumple as quickly as linen or most of the cotton fabrics.

Suits have been tremendously popular this spring, the strictly tailored, plain models perhaps leading in sales. Eton jackets have had a variable career. They started off with a rush, slowed up a little, and then gained new momentum. It is interesting now to note that one of the style leaders of America, who is especially well known as a pace setter in tailored suits, announces that he will offer

eltons again in the fall and believes they will be more popular even than this spring. The Eton suit unquestionably saves fabric. He thus bases his prediction of coming demand for the Eton on the belief that fabrics will be scarce and higher in price next season. This particular American customer discarded a recent Paris prediction that long suit coats will be vigorously pushed to the front next season.

Fall fashions at present are pretty much guess work and as a matter of fact fashion is so variable every season that it is pretty difficult to keep pace with it.

TIMELY NOTES OF FASHION

New scarfs are made of tulle, in brilliant shades, edged with spangles and beaded designs in bright colors. Sometimes the irregular border at each end of the scarf is as much as 18 inches deep in places.

Straw embroidery is used on some of the smartest hats. The vermicelli straw is set on edge and applied in the designs wished for. A shade darker or sometimes a contrasting color to that of the hat is used.

Applique figures are a good deal used on children's frocks this spring. They are cut of cretonne sometimes, or out of hand-blocked linen, and applied to a linen frock. One big frock for instance, will be used on one side of the child's skirt. Sometimes these figures are slightly cut out, silhouette fashion, of colored silk or linen and applied to the frock.

Parrots have a rather definite place in our decorative scheme nowadays. We have utilized them in interiors for months—to very good effect, too. And now we find them on hats and frocks. Sometimes a parrot made of colored fabric is applied to the brim and crown of a straw hat. And in a smart little linen frock for a child a parrot swinging in a ring, embroidered in green and brown, decorates the corners of the wide white collar.

Those Straw Votes.

"I really never did take much stock in straw votes," said the defeated candidate, sorrowfully, "but I must admit that there is more comfort in them than there is sometimes in the real thing."

SHE FINDS HERSELF

By ALICE KILLIAN.

"Come right in, Cornelia," said Mrs. Connery hospitably.

Mrs. Connery was rather surprised at seeing Cornelia Barclay so soon after their conversation regarding exemption from military service, and she was very glad to see that the girl harbored no ill feeling toward her for having spoken so plainly. Noticing the pale face and heavy eyes of her guest, she asked: "What's the matter? Aren't you feeling well?"

Cornelia slowly nodded. "I'm all right," she said with an effort, "but Bob—Bob's gone!"

"Gone?" echoed Mrs. Connery. "Where?"

"Rockford! He's in training!" A glad smile illuminated Mrs. Connery's countenance. "I'm so glad, Cornelia—and you must feel proud! You couldn't help it."

"I am proud," Cornelia assented, "but," sobs came fast, "I'm so lonesome."

Mrs. Connery patted her hand comfortingly. "I know, dear," she murmured.

Cornelia dried her tears. "Don't think I'm hunting sympathy, Mrs. Connery," she said. "I'm not, but I just had to talk to someone, and I knew you'd understand. When I left here that afternoon my mind was in a tumult. You had made me see how selfish I really was, and the question seared my burning brain. Who am I that my husband should be exempted from service? Am I a slacker? Oh, yes, one, when you feel that it may be applied to oneself! I'd say, 'It's Wall Street's war; let the rich do the fighting! I'm willing we should fight, to defend our country, but why send our boys abroad to be shot by German shrapnel?'"

"You know what kind of a conscience I have," Cornelia continued. "It never gives me a minute's rest when I feel that I'm in the wrong, and I knew that I was all wrong. It isn't a Wall Street war; we are fighting for a great principle; our boys are going abroad because we must be protected, and that is the best and only way! Still, I just couldn't see Bob among them."

"When I got home," after my talk with you," Cornelia went on, "Bob was waiting for me. I tried to get his views on the military situation, but he'd say very little. We went down to dinner, and at every table all you could hear was war—war! I couldn't eat; I excused myself and went back upstairs. Soon Bob followed, and then we had it out."

"I don't think I ever saw such absolute joy in any man's face as there was on Bob's when I told him I thought he'd better waive exemption. He stared at me stupefied, then, as he finally grasped my meaning, he dropped his head on his hands and sobbed like a baby."

Cornelia's voice choked. "Little by little he told me just what he'd been up against. Downtown all his friends knew that I had been working for a long time after we married. Also they knew that I had resigned my position, and blamed him for it. They thought he was simply hiding behind my petticoats and evading service. Of course, he wanted to know what had made me change my mind, and—"

Cornelia giggled. "I told him that I'd been listening to an inspired lecture on patriotism, and that I wanted him to go."

"Poor Bob," said Mrs. Connery sympathetically.

"And," continued Cornelia, "Mr. Baker, his employer, has been wonderfully kind. Bob said that when he told him he was going to Rockford, Mr. Baker just wrung his hand and said: 'My boy, I'm proud of you. I just couldn't reconcile your hanging back at a time like this, with your previous record! Poor Bob! Wasn't it a shame that poor, selfish I had placed him in a position where he had to choose between loyalty to his wife or to his country, and by being loyal to me, make everyone think he was a coward and did not love the flag? Mrs. Connery, I just hate myself for my blindness!'"

"No need of all that self-abasement, Cornelia," said Mrs. Connery. "Being cheerful and doing your bit will make the separation easier, and you know Bob would worry if you regretted his going."

"When I got home," after my talk with you," Cornelia went on, "Bob was waiting for me. I tried to get his views on the military situation, but he'd say very little. We went down to dinner, and at every table all you could hear was war—war! I couldn't eat; I excused myself and went back upstairs. Soon Bob followed, and then we had it out."

"I don't think I ever saw such absolute joy in any man's face as there was on Bob's when I told him I thought he'd better waive exemption. He stared at me stupefied, then, as he finally grasped my meaning, he dropped his head on his hands and sobbed like a baby."

GAS AIDS CONSERVATION

TRUE conservation is greatly aided by Gas Service and Efficient Gas Equipment.

The use of Gas saves other fuels, and by so doing helps the railroads with their transportation problems.

Gas comes to you through an underground main. You do not even have to telephone for it. It does not have to be carted, calling for trucks, wagons, horses and men.

In the household Gas conserves time, labor, materials and money. It is the fuel without waste. Its use demands no wasted or unnecessary effort—not so much as an extra step to the fuel bin.

Use Gas in modern fuel-saving appliances. The continued use of old, nearly worn-out Gas equipment is not economy.

We are showing many late styles in appliances—Cabinet, Ranges, Water Heaters, Room Heaters, etc. Stop in to see them.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, June 15.—Passersby have been admiring the past week a very handsome sign in light brown with gold letters that has been placed on the Hunt Memorial Building, Canal street side, above the part now the new home of The Home National bank. It adds to the attractiveness of the handsome building.

A very interesting descriptive letter from Lieut. Roger McElhone Smith from a rest camp in France was received by his parents, Rev. and Mrs. George H. Smith, during the past week, and was published in the Journal. The Journal received a very patriotic letter from J. Leslie Shurtler, who with several other Ellenville young men are in France in the Ambulance service. They were at that time at the base camp in a French village with quarters in a picturesque monastery built 530 A. D., but while being well treated, he wrote they were anxiously awaiting orders to bustle the ambulances to the firing line.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 17, 1918.

WHY HUN PROPAGANDA FAILED.

German editors still find it hard to become reconciled to the unwelcome fact that German-America failed to deliver the real America to the Prussians. The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger laments that "the German Americans, with few exceptions, were failures" from the beginning of the war, their attitude being "weak and slack" while the English and French elements in America were "most forcefully championing the Entente cause." While stupidly overlooking the real facts, this insolently assumes that we are not a nation but a mere collection of European nationalities, and that the United States merely went the way the loudest-mouthed foreigners wished it to go.

As everybody knows, the English and French residents of this country were relatively few and were too busy with more immediate necessities to have time for organized Entente propaganda. Moreover, they paid us the compliment of believing that we had minds of our own and would act as we saw fit. The Germans, on the other hand, engineered a determined and far-reaching propaganda utterly without parallel. With 340 German-language newspapers, with numerous German societies with the wide influence of an immense German population, with persuasion, lies, money and corruption of every sort, with hundreds of the most unscrupulous rascals and cleverest schemers in the world working night and day, German propaganda in this country literally left nothing undone. It failed because the real America stands on ancient foundations and not on recent European drift, because this America has its own ideals and knows its own mind, because Germany was convicted by all the facts and, in its insolence, dared to threaten and even to begin virtual war on the United States.

WILSON INDORSES DIAZ IDEA.

In his recent speech to the Mexican editors visiting this country President Wilson greatly delighted them by declaring a willingness on the part of this country to supplement the Monroe doctrine with a Pan-American agreement which would protect every nation in the Western Hemisphere from the aggression of any or every nation. This happy suggestion has been spoken of as new, but it is not new. The same proposal was made years ago at a Congress of American republics in the City of Mexico and this "Diaz doctrine," as it was called, the suggestion coming from President Diaz of Mexico, failed of adoption because the delegates representing the United States at the congress declined to give it their support.

This failure in the past to support so desirable a doctrine—no less desirable than the Monroe doctrine itself from the point of view of the small or weak nations of this hemisphere—naturally did not tend to lessen Spanish-American suspicion of the United States. In the view of the small or weak American republics the Monroe doctrine protecting them from European aggression solves only half the problem; they regard it as needful that they also be protected from their stronger neighbors, and, as the United States is the biggest or most powerful of these neighbors, our country has been the most often feared and suspected. It is idle to contend that this fear and suspicion have been altogether unreasonable, inasmuch as both Mexico and Colombia have received territorial shearings at our hands. In 1846-8, after helping Texas indirectly to cut loose from Mexico, the United States waged victorious war against Mexico and by the treaty of Guadalupe compelled that country to yield all claim not only to the disputed fraction of Texas but to the vast territory now included in California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah and the western part of Colorado. Many years later, as is more distinctly remembered, President Roosevelt in his haste to begin the construction of the great Isthmian canal, as he himself expressed it, "took Panama (from the parent State of Colombia) and then let Congress debate."

Mexico having an ancient and Colombia a more recent grievance, with lost territory involved in both cases, it is easy to comprehend the existence of a certain amount of fear and suspicion of us on the part of other Spanish-American republics. It is equally obvious that nothing could do so much to allay such fear and suspicion as a Pan-American agreement, proposed and supported by the United States, preventing any further loss of territory and thus protecting all the weaker nations from the stronger. If President Wilson can secure the formal adoption of the principle of the old Diaz doctrine and make it as binding as the Monroe doctrine itself, we shall not only put a quieting hand upon the uneasiness of Mexico but bring about such friendship for and trust in us throughout Spanish-America as has never existed.

Now that young Richard Cleveland has enlisted in the Marines, all the living sons of Presidents Cleveland, Roosevelt and Taft are in our army and navy. It is also stated that all our Presidents known to have living male descendants of military are represented in our military forces and, more remarkable still—showing how truly democratic this nation is—that in nearly every case they entered the service as privates.

U-Boats Make Fish Higher.

The presence of German U-boats off the coast is bound to be felt in the fish market. Already the naval order, closing ports nightly, has affected the industry to some degree.

The mackerel fleet is reported bottled up in a Nova Scotia harbor. Vessels have been kept at Boston, Gloucester, Provincetown and other ports. Only the handline fishing comparatively close to shore, have been able to ply their trade with little delay.

All this is certain to result in an uneven and meager fish supply, at the very season when under normal conditions the fish supply is most regular and plentiful. So, too, it will result in higher prices.

From the consumer's point of view, it is another calamity of the U-boat campaign.

What does the fisherman think of it? The indications are that he regards it simply as another inevitable danger to be faced without fear or ostentation. Like other dangers, it is to him all in a day's work.

COUNTRY NOW HAS BIG PORK RESERVE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 17.—Pork products, piling up hundreds of thousands of pounds above consumption, have given the American public a reserve of more than a billion pounds the food administration announced today. This is enough to feed the allied forces for more than a month, said food officials, and would provide meat for the civilian population here for nearly two months.

The American pig is doing his bit. He is multiplying so fast that not only have we been able to send pork across the seas as fast as we could have it, but have produced this vast store of surplus meat, according to a food official in charge of meats.

There should be a drop in the high prices now prevailing for pork, if the stocks continue to accumulate, it was pointed out.

One reason for the high range of prices was the housewife's desire to have only choice cuts of pork, officials said. A drive to educate the housewife to buy cheaper cuts of meat is under consideration by the food administration, and may start before the end of the week, it was learned.

Sheriff's Officials After Schroeber, Who is Charged by His Wife With Assault.

Hugo Schroeber of the town of Rosendale has been hiding in the woods near the First Binnewater. Officials of the sheriff's office are after him and believe they will get him. Schroeber is wanted on a charge of third degree assault, preferred by his wife, who claims that he struck and kicked her.

Steamer Hit Ferry.

The Night Line steamer Rensselaer of the Hudson River Navigation Line collided late Saturday night with the ferry Orange of the Newburgh-Bacon line, opposite Newburgh. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Coyne of Newburgh and John Ruff of New York, passengers on the ferry, were slightly injured and an auto was wrecked. The ferry was slightly damaged. The collision was due, it is said, to a misunderstanding of signals.

LaTour Sang in Catskill.

Herman LaTour, the popular tenor of Kingston, sang "Keep the Home Fires Burning," to the exercises held by the Catskill Lodge of Elks on Flax Day in Catskill. The Catskill Mail stated that Mr. LaTour possesses a magnificent tenor voice and the delight of his hearers was expressed in the hearty applause accorded him when he had finished singing.

"Bad Bill" Sent Back.

"Bad Bill" Monroe, who recently was sentenced to serve three years in Sing Sing, has been returned to Newburgh for sentence. He had been in prison before and was released 14 months ahead of time by reason of commutation of his sentence. On the supposition he would have to serve out this time and that this would enter into his new sentence he was sent for three years, but it develops that it should have been disregarded. He will be resented this week. The situation is not displeasing to "Bad Bill."

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lewis announced that the wedding of their daughter, Almeda, has been indefinitely postponed.

Mrs. Sarah Gilday of 164 Highland avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Sadie A. Gilday, to M. J. Kelly of New York city.

At the graduating exercises to be held this evening in St. Mary's Hall for the Benedictine Sanitarium nurses, an informal reception will be held at the close of the program. Dancing will be enjoyed, music being furnished by members of the Musicians' Union. No invitations have been issued this year, but the public is cordially invited to attend.

Friday evening about twenty women friends called at the home of Miss Sadie Gilday at No. 164 Highland avenue while she was absent from home. When she returned latter, she was greatly surprised by the appearance of her friends and the variety shower tendered her in honor of her approaching marriage to M. J. Kelly of New York City. After the gifts of cut glass, china ware, silver and linen were made, the remainder of the evening was spent with music and light refreshments were served. At a late hour the guests departed for their homes, wishing the bride-to-be a happy and prosperous future. Those present were the Misses Etta Weber, Irene Uhl, May Bergen, May Reilly, Marjorie Gumaer, Jennie Doyle, Anna Keeley, Edna McCaardie, Hazel, Hutton, Dorothy Koch, Milda Koch, Marie Sweeney, Katherine Rectendald, Martha Lahood, Sadie Baxter, Anna Formenton, Bessie Rafferty, Mrs. P. Gilday, Mrs. E. Robinson, Mrs. D. Lammon and Mrs. J. Sweeney.

Lints-Krom.

Harold A. Lints, sergeant at Headquarters Co., 303rd Infantry, Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., and Helen Rose Krom, of High Falls, N. Y., were married at the home of the bride Saturday morning, June 15, by the Rev. G. C. Dangremond, the bride's minister.

Fine Piano Recital.

On Saturday afternoon the young pupils of both Mrs. Harry P. Dodge and Harry P. Dodge gave a fine piano recital at the Dodge Studio on Green street. Considerable budding talent was shown by the pupils, and excellent training and careful practice was evidenced in every number played. The first half of the program was devoted to the little folks in Mrs. Dodge's class, and was as follows:

The Bogie Man.....Swift

Lionel Wood.

Song of the Armorer.....Gaynor

Alfred Van Buren.

Bird Song.....Rogers

James Thompson.

a. Petite Waltz.....Denec

b. Hunting Song.....Dana

Pauline Herb.

Youth and Joy.....Schnytle

Ruth Keator

In the Boat.....Frankie

Natalie DeWitt

Hide and Seek.....Schnytle

Ruth Lewis.

a. Happy Wanderer.....Jensen

b. The Brook.....Karganoff

Margaret Shields.

Duet:

a. Album Leaf; b. In Spring.....Low

Natalie DeWitt and Ruth Lewis.

Forest Birds.....Jensen

Margaret Messinger.

Colinette.....Beaumont

Gertrude Walsh.

Duet:

a. The Brownies.....Mrs. Beach

b. Robin Red Breast.....Mrs. Beach

c. Twilight.....Margaret Messinger.

Gertrude Walsh.

While all of the little people played well, showing considerable musicianship, it would not be out of order to make mention of the last group of duets, not only because of the excellence with which they were played, but also because of the charm of the compositions themselves.

Abraham Merline was the first of Mr. Dodge's pupils to play giving a graceful performance of Denec's Waltz Op. 15, No. 5. He was followed by Agatha Flich, who played nicely a Godard Waltz. Elizabeth Liebig gave an excellent performance of "Pas Des Escharpes," by Chaminade, full of difficult modulations. Paderevsky's "Un Moment Musical" was given careful rendition by Jaquelin Winston. "Automat Enchantment," by Wilson Smith was the pleasing number played by Edith Haas. This was followed by a very graceful performance of "Balancelle" by Wachs, played by Zadel Herb. A particularly graceful number was Spindler's "My Little Boat," played by Josephine Ingalsbe, followed by Dorothy Jensen who gave a musicianly rendering of Saint Saens' "Romance Sans Parole." Much talent and careful study was shown by Helen Dwyer in her playing of the charming and elaborate "Deuxieme Valse Lente" by Dolmetsch. The program closed with Beethoven's beautiful and brilliant "Rondo in C. Op. 51, No. 1," played with artistic interpretation and exceptionally fine technique, belokening real talent, by Katherine Kearney.

A Young Soldier.

A boy about 10 years of age, dressed in khaki, even to long trousers, attracted considerable attention Sunday afternoon on Broadway. He walked with shoulders erect and swung along with the quick military step.

Auto Recovered.

Chester Van Demark of Saugerties late Saturday night notified the police department that his auto had been stolen from Lake Katrine. Sunday afternoon the car was found abandoned near the Catskill village line.

STORED MUCH FROZEN MEAT

German Authorities, in First Days of War, Mobilized All Resources of Refrigerating Plants.

Berlin has 2,200 tons of frozen meat in its municipal cold storage depots. The supply is replenished from time to time so that it remains at that figure. On their present meat ration of one-half pound, the Vossische Zeitung says, the Berliners are assured of meat enough to last all Greater Berlin two or three weeks, even if there should be a temporary stoppage of replenishment.

How the cold storage of pork has helped Germany to "stick it" is explained in an article in the Chemiker Zeitung. Early in the war, realizing the serious effect of the British blockade on the meat supply, the government directed the refrigerating industry to mobilize its resources on the largest possible scale. It was ordered to make preparations for dealing with millions instead of thousands of pigs. Cold storage plants were enlarged, new ones built, and the system so extended that today there is hardly a local community without its own refrigerating facilities.

Every fortress has a freezing plant of its own. In case of siege it will assist materially in the preservation of perishable foods, especially meat, eggs, fish and butter.

"The German authorities," says the article, "have taken advantage of cold storage to the fullest extent, thereby greatly easing the economic conduct of the war."

Suicides Among Japanese Students.

According to Rev. Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, who lived long in the far East, suicides among Japanese students are probably more prevalent than among any other students in the world. The causes he mentions are, first, the high-strung nerves and exceptional sensitiveness to anything that may be regarded as a personal humiliation; and second, the extraordinary competition among students to secure places in the government schools.

TELL OF LONDON'S HISTORY

Collection of Wonderfully Interesting Relics in the Whitechapel Art Galleries.

In a small space in the Whitechapel art galleries there is a fascinating collection which reconstitutes the history of London from the days when the Britons watched the galleys of the Romans sweeping up the Thames river. There are bits of Roman pottery found in the Thames mud. Photographs and prints show how bits of the old Roman wall may still be touched by living hands. And so throughout the long story of the great old city there are re-creations of its varying phases, of its ceaseless change; a beautiful piece of carving by Grindling Gibbons, or one of his school, in St. Paul's grotesquely carved brackets of wood that once supported the beams of Tudor houses; iron brackets beautifully wrought by ancient craftsmen; leather jacks, out of which some Falstaff quaffed his sack; clay pipes, smoked in Queen Elizabeth's day by men who sailed the Spanish main; the old

These, and many other relics, bring back the spirit of oldtime London to men and women who go to the quiet and restful place from the rush of modern life in Whitechapel.

Some Old-Day Battles.

The great odds in numbers which the British army has had to face on the western front is no rare experience in its annals. Wellington has borne witness to that fact in his remarks that Talavera was the only battle in which he had a numerical superiority, owing to the presence of the Spaniards, who, while showing much personal gallantry, were badly led. At all his other battles he had fewer men than the enemy. "At Salamanca I had 40,000 men, and the French perhaps 45,000. At Vittoria I had 60,000 men against 70,000. At Waterloo the proportion was still more against me. I had 56,000 to 58,000; Napoleon had near 80,000. The whole army in the south of France under my command was considerably larger than the force of Soult at the battle of Toulouse, but in numbers actually employed in that battle I had less than he." All of which goes to show that strength and success do not necessarily lie with mere weight of numbers. There are other factors vastly more essential.—Christian Science Monitor.

Braking Airplane While Flying.

A braking mechanism for airplanes has recently been introduced, according to the Popular Science Monthly. This consists of two rectangular planes of small area, mounted on a shaft that runs along the rear edge of the main plane, and passes through the fuselage. The control is by means of a hand-wheel and connections, which act in conjunction with a handbrake. When an airplane is flying at a rate of a hundred miles an hour the air pressure is not less than 30 pounds to the square foot. It will thus be seen that the added resistance of a few extra square feet of canvas has a very great retarding action on the speed of the plane.

A Gingham Dress Has Now Become the Apparel of Honor For All Women —

Probably you have never worn a gingham dress on the street before. Probably you thought it wasn't fine enough. That was before we went to war. It was before the Government demanded thrift and before wool was so very high in cost.

Nowadays the leaders of fashion, women who have never worn a cotton dress before in all their lives and particularly a street dress, are wearing gingham dresses to-day and they are proud to do it.

And so to have the kind of garments that the women of Kingston will also be demanding, to meet the needs of the Nation, we have assembled a very unusual and desirable collection of gingham dresses in several very effective and unusually pretty styles.

CATSKILL LANDS
RIPARIAN RIGHTS

Arguments At Troy Relative To Property Taken For Catskill Reservoirs—One Commission Replaced; One Appointed.

Judge Howard at his special term at Troy on Saturday listened with the closest attention to a large array of lawyers who pointed out and with great force called his attention to the rights of property owners in Ulster, Greene and Schoharie counties, whose property is taken by the city of New York for its great Catskill aqueduct and reservoirs. The first case that came up was the motion of the city to set aside the report of the Elting commission to Sands, the owner of Glaciere Falls, the city claiming the award was excessive; that Sands had no rights of pondage, and that he had bought the property in connection with a condition in his contract that it could be cancelled by a resolution of the city.

The second case was the motion of the city to set aside the report of the Elting commission to Sands, the owner of Glaciere Falls, the city claiming the award was excessive; that Sands had no rights of pondage, and that he had bought the property in connection with a condition in his contract that it could be cancelled by a resolution of the city.

The third case was the motion of the city to set aside the report of the Elting commission to Sands, the owner of Glaciere Falls, the city claiming the award was excessive; that Sands had no rights of pondage, and that he had bought the property in connection with a condition in his contract that it could be cancelled by a resolution of the city.

The fourth case was the motion of the city to set aside the report of the Elting commission to Sands, the owner of Glaciere Falls, the city claiming the award was excessive; that Sands had no rights of pondage, and that he had bought the property in connection with a condition in his contract that it could be cancelled by a resolution of the city.

The fifth case was the motion of the city to set aside the report of the Elting commission to Sands, the owner of Glaciere Falls, the city claiming the award was excessive; that Sands had no rights of pondage, and that he had bought the property in connection with a condition in his contract that it could be cancelled by a resolution of the city.

The sixth case was the motion of the city to set aside the report of the Elting commission to Sands, the owner of Glaciere Falls, the city claiming the award was excessive; that Sands had no rights of pondage, and that he had bought the property in connection with a condition in his contract that it could be cancelled by a resolution of the city.

The seventh case was the motion of the city to set aside the report of the Elting commission to Sands, the owner of Glaciere Falls, the city claiming the award was excessive; that Sands had no rights of pondage, and that he had bought the property in connection with a condition in his contract that it could be cancelled by a resolution of the city.

The eighth case was the motion of the city to set aside the report of the Elting commission to Sands, the owner of Glaciere Falls, the city claiming the award was excessive; that Sands had no rights of pondage, and that he had bought the property in connection with a condition in his contract that it could be cancelled by a resolution of the city.

up, and which occupied a long time, was the objection of the city to the award of the Elting commission for the Martin Cantine and Diamond Mills and other riparian properties at Saugerties. The city by Mr. Grogan moved to set these awards aside as excessive. Howard Chipp and Judge Saveryn B. Sharpe, who appeared for the claimants, discussed the matter from every angle of the law and the facts claiming that the awards were fully sustained by the evidence. The last matter which arose was the objection of the city to the first separate report of the Elting commission, the city moving to set aside many of the awards as excessive. These awards heretofore have been published in The Freeman, and the matter for the claimants was presented by Senator Walton, Arthur Brown, F. E. W. Darrow, Judge Jenkins, Van Eiten and Cook, Milton C. Auchmoody, and Brininger and Canfield.

A telephone message received here this morning states that Judge Howard replaced the Proper Stearns Taylor commission by a commission consisting of Judge Sinner of New York, George Van Valkenburgh of Catskill, and Charles Lockwood of Troy; that he appointed a commission to hear the Yale quarry and other claims consisting of Charles Schrab of New York, a Mr. Diehl of Troy, and John J. Birmingham of Kingston.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of Helen Virginia, infant daughter of Cornelius C. and Estella Oliver, was held this afternoon from the family residence in Marlborough with interment in the Marlborough cemetery.

The funeral services of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van De Mark of Westport, Conn., were held at 455 Washington avenue, this city, at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Rev. V. D. Macfie officiating. Interment at Montrose cemetery.

The body of Mrs. Sarah Burch, who died at her home in Brooklyn last February, arrived in this city Sunday and was taken to High Falls for interment by Undertaker E. A. Kelly. The Rev. E. A. Bookhout of Port Ewen officiated at the funeral services.

Saulford F. Magee, a well known resident of Woodstock died suddenly at his home in that place on Sunday, June 17, aged 72 years. He is survived by his wife and one son, Jesse Magee, of Shulds Corners. Funeral services will be held at his late residence on Wednesday, June 19, at 1 p. m. Interment at Woodstock.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Hughes Brill was held from the late residence 124 Wurts street on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The services were conducted by the Rev. A. Fuller, pastor of the West Street Baptist Church, of which she was a loyal member, assisted by the Rev. R. H. Miller. The floral tributes were from Harry Tremper, George Canfield, Samuel L. Lory and Frank Tongue. The interment was in Montrose cemetery.

Isabella Wakefield, wife of John Bailey of No. 56 Montrose avenue, died Sunday evening after an illness of only four days. She was born in Brooklyn and had lived in this city for the past twenty years. She was an active member of the Church of the Holy Spirit and was held in high esteem by all who knew her. Besides her husband she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. George MacElvaine of Jersey City and Miss Fannie Wakefield of Brooklyn, and a niece, Miss Edith M. Wakenan who lived at apartment of proper commission home. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Catherine, widow of Michael Keating died Friday at her home No. 51 Seacombe street, after a long illness. She was a woman who was highly regarded by all who knew her. She is survived by six daughters, Mary, Alice, Nellie, Josephine, Catherine and Loretta, and two sons, John at home and William, now at Camp Wadsworth. The funeral will be held from the late residence Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and thence to St. Mary's Church where a requiem mass will be celebrated for the repose of her soul. The interment will be in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Jersey, Gabardine, Serge, Cotton, Crash or Linen Materials.

For traveling, especially on a long trip by motor, a suit like that in the sketch would be an admirable selection. It may be developed in any one of a number of fabrics, such as jersey cloth, gabardine, heavy serge and other procurable wool materials, and cotton bluish cloth, crash or linen. Khaki colored gabardine was chosen for the suit as designed. It is decidedly military in cut and finish. It is made with two coats, one the suit coat proper shown on the figure, the other a topcoat that is virtually full length, and in cut and finish an exact replica of the short suit coat.

The skirt, middle length, buttons at the side front, and the sleeves, as will be noted, are finished with a row of buttons from wrist to elbow. A small close-reefed hat should be worn with a suit of this type, and of course the accompanying blouse should be plain and mannish. Washable satin and crepe de chine are excellent selections for a tailored blouse, as these materials launder well and easily, and of course do not rumple as quickly as linen or most of the cotton fabrics.

Suits have been tremendously popular this spring, the strictly tailored, plain models perhaps leading in sales. Etou jackets have had a variable career. They started off with a rush, sloped up a little, and then gained new momentum. It is interesting now to note that one of the style leaders of America, who is especially well known as a pace setter in tailored suits, announces that he will offer

etons again in the fall and believes they will be more popular even than this spring. The coat suit unquestionably saves fabric. He thus has his prediction of coming demand for the eton on the belief that fabrics will be scarce and higher in price next season. This particular American consumer disorder is a recent Paris prediction that long suit coats will be vigorously pushed to the front next season.

Full fashions at present are pretty much guess work and as a matter of fact fashion is so variable every season that it is pretty difficult to keep pace with it.

TIMELY NOTES OF FASHION

New scarfs are made of tulle, in brilliant shades, edged with sparkles and beaded dozens in bright colors. Sometimes the irregular border at each end of the scarf is as much as 18 inches deep in places.

Straw embroidery is used on some of the smartest hats. The vermicelli straw is set on edge and applied in the designs wished for. A shade darker or sometimes a contrasting color to that of the hat is used.

Parrots have a rather definite place in our decorative scheme nowadays. We have utilized them in interiors for months—to very good effect, for. And now we find them on hats and frocks. Sometimes a parrot made of colored fabric is applied to the brim and crown of a straw hat. And in a smart little linen frock for a child a parrot swinging in a ring, embroidered in green and brown, decorates the corners of the wide white collar.

SHE FINDS HERSELF

By ALICE KILLIAN.

"Come right in, Cornelia," said Mrs. Connery, hospitably. Mrs. Connery was rather surprised at seeing Cornelia Barclay so soon after their conversation regarding exemption from military service, and she was very glad to see that the girl harbored no ill feeling toward her for having spoken so plainly. Noticing the pale face and heavy eyes of her guest, she asked: "What's the matter? Aren't you feeling well?"

Cornelia slowly nodded. "I'm all right," she said with an effort, "but Bob's gone!"

"Gone?" echoed Mrs. Connery. "Where?"

"Rockford! He's in training!"

A glad smile illuminated Mrs. Connery's countenance. "I'm so glad, Cornelia—and you must feel proud! You couldn't help it."

"I am proud," Cornelia assented, "but" sobs came fast, "I'm so lonesome."

Mrs. Connery patted her hand comfortingly. "I know, dear," she murmured.

Cornelia dried her tears. "Don't think I'm hunting sympathy, Mrs. Connery," she said. "I'm not, but I just had to talk to someone, and I knew you'd understand. When I left here that afternoon my mind was in a turmoil. You had made me see how selfish I really was, and the question scared my burning brain. Who am I, that my husband should be exempted from service? Am I a slacker? Oh, you don't know how that word shrives one, when you feel that it may be applied to oneself! I'd say, 'It's Wall Street's war; let the rich do the fighting! I'm willing we should fight to defend our country, but why send our boys abroad to be shot by German sharpshooters?'"

"You know what kind of a conscience I have!" Cornelia continued. "It never gives me a minute's rest when I feel that I'm in the wrong, and I knew that I was all wrong. It isn't a Wall Street war; we are fighting for a great principle; our boys are going abroad because we must be protected, and that is the best and only way! Still, I just couldn't see Bob among them."

"When I got home after my talk with you," Cornelia went on, "Bob was waiting for me. I tried to get his views on the military situation, but he'd say very little. We went down to dinner, and at every table all you could hear was war-war! I couldn't eat; I excused myself and went back upstairs. Soon Bob followed, and then we had it out."

"I don't think I ever saw such absolute fear in any man's face as there was on Bob's when I told him I thought he'd better waive exemption. He stared at me stupefied, then, as he finally grasped my meaning, he dropped his head on his hands and sobbed like a baby."

Cornelia's voice choked.

"Little by little he told me just what he'd been up against. Downtown all his friends knew that I had been working for a long time after we married. Also they knew that I had resigned my position, and blamed him for it. They thought he was simply hiding behind my petticoats and evading service. Of course, he wanted to know what had made me change my mind, and—"

Cornelia giggled. "I told him that I'd been listening to an inspired lecture on patriotism, and that I wanted him to go."

"Poor Bob," said Mrs. Connery sympathetically.

"And," continued Cornelia, "Mr. Barclay, his employer, has been wonderfully kind. Bob said that when he told him he was going to Rockford, Mr. Barclay just wrung his hands and said: 'My boy, I'm proud of you. I just couldn't reconcile your hanging back at a time like this, with your previous record.' Poor Bob! Wasn't it a shame that poor, selfish I had placed him in a position where he had to choose between loyalty to his wife or to his country and, by being loyal to me, make everyone think he was a coward and did not love the flag? Mrs. Connery, I just hate myself for my blindness."

"No need of all that self-abasement, Cornelia," said Mrs. Connery. "Being cheerful and doing your bit will make the separation easier, and you know Bob would worry if you regretted his going."

"I don't regret it for one minute," said Cornelia emphatically. "He looks simply great in his uniform, and his heart is in his work. I know Bob will make a good soldier. But," Cornelia struggled with her tears, "I'm awfully lonesome."

GAS AIDS CONSERVATION

TRUE conservation is greatly aided by Gas Service and Efficient Gas Equipment.

The use of Gas saves other fuels, and by so doing helps the railroads with their transportation problems.

Gas comes to you through an underground main. You do not even have to telephone for it. It does not have to be carted, calling for trucks, wagons, horses and men. In the household Gas conserves time, labor, materials and money. It is the fuel without waste. Its use demands no wasted or unnecessary effort—not so much as an extra step to the fuel bin.

Use Gas in modern fuel-saving appliances. The continued use of old, nearly worn-out Gas equipment is not economy.

We are showing many late styles in appliances—(above) Ranges, Water Heaters, Room Heaters, etc. Stop in to see them.

INSPIRING SERVICE SUNDAY NIGHT

At St. James's M. E. Church—Masonic and Eastern Star Lodges Attend—War Sermon by Dr. Baragwanath.

A congregation that filled St. James's M. E. Church Sunday night enjoyed the special service held to commemorate St. John's Day. Members of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. and A. M.; Roundout Lodge, No. 243, and Kingston Chapter and Clinton Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, occupied seats in the front. There was special music, the regular choir of the church being assisted by the Masonic quartet. The Rev. Dr. T. H. Baragwanath preached a patriotic sermon. The church was decorated with flowers and flags. The service flag of the Masons decorated the pulpit.

Dr. Baragwanath, who is a Mason, welcomed the members of the fraternity in a felicitous manner. He referred to the observance of St. John's Day, giving the religious significance of the "Fires of St. John." The preacher said we would in our way celebrate the day, namely by bringing fresh fuel for the fires of freedom kindled in this land, and kept burning, ever since the battle of Lexington led up to the surrender at Yorktown, and the freedom of the American Colonies.

Dr. Baragwanath paid a just tribute to the unquestioned loyalty of German-born citizens, multitudes of whom are to be found in the army and navy—a fact most distasteful to the Kaiser and his war party. The great congregation seemed to be spellbound as the preacher made an eloquent plea that the war be waged to a successful finish, no matter what the cost, in order to make liberty and justice supreme in the earth.

Feeds Suggested For June.

Dairy cows on pasture may well be given a heavier feed than under other conditions. Cottonseed meal may be used in place of oil meal in rations, because the oil meal may cause scouring. The following are the mixtures suggested by the state college of agriculture for different kinds of livestock in June:

For dairy cows—500 pounds wheat feed, 600 pounds gluten feed, 300 pounds oil meal, 600 pounds hominy.

For beef cattle—50 per cent hominy, 50 per cent cottonseed meal.

For pigs—Equal parts of middlings and hominy. In the absence of skim-milk or buttermilk, feed 10 per cent by weight of tankage to growing pigs.

For lambs—400 pounds hominy, 300 pounds bran, 200 pounds oil meal, 100 pounds gluten feed.

Where wheat bran or wheat feed is suggested, oat feed, barley feed, or a light ready-mixed feed can be used if it is impossible to get the wheat by-products, says the college.

WOLF FAILED TO APPEAR IN COURT

John Wolf Had Fletcher Banks Arrested on Assault Charge and Then Failed to Press Charge—Banks Was Discharged.

An outcome of Friday's episode on Abbeel street when Fletcher Banks, a negro employed by Abe Vogel, knocked down John Wolf, who has a saloon on that street, for calling him vile names, was the arrest of Banks on a warrant sworn out by Mr. Wolf. Mr. Banks was paroled until this morning, when he appeared in police court to answer to the charge.

When the case was called it was found that Mr. Wolf had failed to put in an appearance and was not present in the city hall to press the charge.

W. D. Brinnier, Jr., who represented Mr. Banks, moved for the discharge of his client, and the request was granted by the court and the complaint dismissed.

There may be other interesting developments later.

REFERENCE JUDGE JENKINS.

Reference's Report in Mortgage Foreclosure Action Approved—Supplementary Proceedings Close.

County Judge Jenkins has approved the report of the referee Cleon B. Murray, in the action brought by Herman S. Wells against leader Mizrach and others, and has ordered the referee to sell the mortgaged premises, property in the town of Wawarsing. John R. De Vany appeared for the plaintiff.

In the supplementary proceedings brought by Theresa Moehinger against William C. Davis, upon motion of Frank W. Brooks, attorney for the judgment debtor, the case was adjourned for two weeks. Van Kitten and Cook represent the judgment creditor.

Chamber of Commerce Members.

The recent decision of the Court in regard to delinquent members of the Chamber of Commerce rendered at Middletown is of interest to members everywhere. The officers of the Chamber of Commerce brought action against a delinquent member, who refused to pay his annual dues after signing. The court decided that this was a binding contract and rendered a decision in favor of the Chamber of Commerce, and gave judgment against the delinquent member.

Day Line Sunday Service.

The Hudson River Day Line inaugurated their Sunday boat service yesterday. The Robert Fulton arrived at the Point with a large number of passengers for Kingston and over 125 boarded the boat bound for points north. On account of the low rates of fare many people are patronizing the boats in preference to the railroads.

Mrs. Mason of Marius Street Now Has Possession of Handsome Teddy—Judge Schirick to Decide Who Owns Teddy Wednesday.

Mrs. Mason of Marius street, on Saturday, through her attorney, V. B. Van Wageningen, started legal proceedings to secure possession of Teddy, the handsome Scotch collie, which was taken from her the other day by City Marshal Rice in proceedings brought by Mrs. Cecelia Wentworth of Peekamoose and Paris, France.

As told in The Freeman at the time, City Marshal Rice secured the dog and removed him to the veterinary stables of Dr. J. A. Huhne on West Union street, where Teddy was placed in the care of Charlie Belton. The ownership of Teddy is contested by both women. Mrs. Wentworth claims she boarded him at the Mason home, and Mrs. Mason claims Teddy was presented to her by Mrs. Wentworth.

The hearing to determine who owns Teddy has been set down for Wednesday in city court before Judge Schirick.

W. D. Brinnier, Jr., is looking out for the interests of Mrs. Wentworth.

Archie Now Has Ring.

Over eighteen years ago Archie Winter, the downtown expressman, left a gold seal ring with the late John T. Bond, the veteran watch dealer on the Strand, to be reduced to fit his finger. Several times Mr. Winter spoke to Mr. Bond about it, but in some way the ring was not repaired. As time went on Mr. Winter forgot about it himself. This ring went through the Van Deusen fire on the Strand when Mr. Bond's stock was damaged. Last week Mr. Winter thought of the ring and went to Miss Bond, who has Mr. Bond's stock at her home, picked the ring out and is now wearing it.

War Lecture By Dr. Matthews.

The Educational Committee of the Women's Branch of the Home Defense Committee of Ulster County is pleased to announce that the long delayed lecture by Dr. Matthews will be given at the high school on Friday evening of this week, June 21st, at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged and it is hoped that there will be a large audience in attendance to pay compliment to this gifted and patriotic woman.

Day Line Half Fare For Soldiers.

On and after June 15 until further notice the Hudson River Day Line will sell to any soldier or sailor in uniform local tickets to points on the Hudson river at one-half fare. This applies only to regularly enlisted officers and men in uniform, and no furlough or certificate is required in order that they may avail themselves of this courtesy.

POLICE COURT WAS BUSY PLACE TODAY

Police court came back into its today when Saturday and Sunday resulted in half a dozen cases which came up for a hearing before Judge Schirick this morning.

Max Millens was arrested Saturday by Officer Soper on a charge of running his auto past a trolley car discharging passengers at the entrance to the high school. Max was fined $5 by the court.

John C. Landeur was arrested by Officer Soper Saturday evening on a charge of disorderly conduct and was paroled to answer in police court this morning. John somehow failed to "keep the date." A warrant was later sworn out for his arrest.

William C. Haupt, an out of town man, was arrested by Sheriff Smith for violating the traffic ordinance. He deposited $5 bail for his appearance in court today. He failed to appear and the bail was forfeited.

John Condon, 16 years old, was arrested Saturday by Officer Shader for shooting off fire crackers in front of the central post office. He was placed on probation for six months. Other cases in court will be found elsewhere.

W. S. S. at Spring Street Church.

The Rev. A. Schmidt, pastor of the Spring Street German Lutheran Church on Sunday morning and evening called the attention of his congregation to the W. S. S. drive and urged his people to back up the government by taking an active part in the drive by buying W. S. S. He announced that he was ready to receive order for War Saving Stamps and at the close of the services secured a number of orders. Orders will be received by him over the telephone also. His call is 13-16-J.

Kingston Officer of U. C. T.

At the eighteenth annual session of the Grand Council of United Commercial Travelers held at Oneonta last week Mason E. Shults of this city, was re-elected grand treasurer for the organization for the ensuing year.

WOMEN ALIENS REGISTER TODAY

Today was the first day of the registration of women aliens at police headquarters and at the Central Postoffice. Women aliens have until June 26 to register, but are urged to appear at the registration place before that so that the work may be finished in season. All women aliens in Kingston must register at the city hall, and those residing in the rural communities surrounding the city at the postoffice.

Minstrels at Woodstock.

This J. O. U. A. M. Glee Club of this city will repeat the excellent performance they gave to the largest crowds ever held in Mechanics Hall on Henry street at Woodstock on Wednesday evening for the benefit of the lodge in that village. The minstrels will be given in Firemen's Hall in Woodstock and the local talent will make the trip by auto. A dance will follow.

AUTO DEAL AIRED IN COURT.

Judge Schirick Dismissed Complaint Against Steinhardt.

Leo Steinhardt of 20 Chambers street was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Hyman Karp of 74 Broadway, charging Steinhardt with larceny in the second degree. This morning when he came up for a hearing before Judge Schirick, the court granted the motion of W. H. Grogan, who represented Steinhardt, to dismiss the complaint on the grounds that Karp's remedy, if any, was in civil court.

It developed that Steinhardt and Maurice H. Friedman are in partnership. They own a Ford car. Karp made arrangements to buy the car for $220 and paid $20 out of the $240. Somehow the deal fell through, and it is claimed Steinhardt returned Karp the $20.

Karp claimed that when he was ready to pay the $200 balance that Steinhardt refused to turn over the car to him.

Mr. Grogan contended that there was no criminal action and the court served with him and discharged Steinhardt.

The case excited a good deal of interest down town.

PORT EWEN MAN'S LIFE IN FRANCE

Private Harry E. Schryver, 14th Railway Engineers, One of First Ulster County Men in France, Relates
Some of His Experiences.

Private Harry E. Schryver, Company E, 14th Engineers (Railway), a native of Port Ewen and in his early youth an employe of The Freeman, was one of the first Ulster county men in France, having sailed with his regiment for England shortly after the United States entered the war. Several letters have been printed in The Freeman and the following account of his experiences—half letter, half diary—evidently written in odd hours as a pastime, came to the managing editor of The Freeman, with whom Private Schryver was associated more than 20 years ago, in several installments.

(Third Installment.)

Lost in Barb Wire Forest.

This section of France is noted for heavy fogs. One is apt to come within ten minutes on a clear day.
I have never seen anything to beat it.
One afternoon at 3 o'clock the fog enveloped the valley so quickly that it caused quite an extra amount of work, which was unnecessary in daylight. It became more dense. At 7 p. m. you could not see ten feet in any direction. It was necessary for me to go to regimental headquarters, two miles or more "down" the line. I left here and started away on my journey. It was not a night to go for a journey. I would have been better satisfied to stay in the hut and "pound the hay" (sleep). It was dangerous to follow the railroad as the trains and tractors were working as usual, and could have run into me without a moment's notice. As I walked along the track, I collided with something, and rolled into the ditch. When I fell, the object I had had collided with fell too. It was a Scot coming "up" feeling his way along. For a few moments I thought there would be a tussle between us two, but we finally controlled ourselves, shook hands and started away in different directions. When I arrived at the top of the hill, there was yet a walk of one-half a mile to the next control station. Finally, I passed that place and came to the path across the fields to the regimental headquarters, and decided to try that path and save time and steps.
I followed the path, as I thought, looking for a plank used as a footpath over the trench. I could not find it. I had strayed from the beaten path and was walking in the grass. I knew I was wrong and tried to find it again. It was no use.
So I continued ahead until I came to a mass of barb-wire entanglements.
I turned back and found another mass of entanglements. I realized then I was really lost out there in the fields. I called a number of times, but received no answer. I was rather unnerved. I knew somewhere around there was a large embankment with a steep drop of 20 feet into a white chalk trench. But where? The entanglements puzzled me. I did not recall having seen any such masses around in that section and I had been over it several times.
And there was a big chance of my having to stay out in that field in the heavy raw for all night; and I had to report for duty at 12
p. m.—and failure to report on time would mean a court martial.
I made another try with the same result. Then I got busy at once. I placed a corkscrew rod, similar to those used in the entanglements, in the ground and wired a large piece of tin on it. I carefully felt my way along as I stepped over and in between the barbwire entanglement until I had crossed it. It seemed ages to me. In reality about 15 minutes. I kept on my way through the grass and came to a road. Even then I did not know where the track was.
The roads here, used by lorries, limbers and teams, are like a spider's web. But I was going "somewhere" —in France.

Finally I found the railroad tracks and a switch of a spur. I walked along the spur until I came to the top of the hill. I knew then where I was. I had turned and followed the track "up" toward our control station instead of "down" to Headquarters. Do you wonder when I state that I followed the track into headquarters—to learn I had spent nearly an hour exploring the entanglements and field? I went "up" to our control station, a tractor on return trip. I had had enough experience for one evening. Three days later I made a trip over the path looking for my mark and found it fifty feet from the embankment, with the barbwire entanglements along the top. By good luck I had crawled through and over the entanglements leading away from the embankment. But even then I had a pretty narrow escape as I might have turned the other way and went into the deep trench. In the future the old song, "The longest way 'round is the sweetest way home," will be good enough for me.
No more short cuts on foggy nights for yours truly.

Monotonous Silence.

In this country the silence becomes monotonous at times. I guess all have various moods at times. But it really is strange how it will work on some who are generally happy and light-hearted. When it hits them, it hits hard. I know. I have been travelling the mill over here. Generally when that mood is on, we form a circle and sing our songs of home
—sometimes to quite an audience.
Seldom that it fails to cure the one who mopes around. And often at night in the moonlight we gathered our cartridge case seats in a circle and drew our pictures of home and our return, and sang; until, finally, one by one, we would leave the group and silently slip into our hut and "pound the hay" (sleep). Those were the nights we had to drive away the glooms. The first month was a terror here. But those scenes have changed now. The nights are longer.

The same old moon shines as well here as on Broadway (six hours difference in time) and we welcome it just as much, too. But the air is very cold now. Our concerts are held in our hut. Any night we are apt to have one. We have an invitation to call any night at a hut of the English Labor Battalion here and sing their piano. We had moved it for them and one night we had an excellent meal and singing society meet there. All appeared pleased—especially with the food? Since then we have received a number of new song sheets from America and tobacco and cigarettes from Marcus Loew, Seneca G. Lewis of New York Sun and others from New York. And every man appreciated the gift. Each man received 2 bags Bull Durham and 15 packages of Sweet Caporal cigarettes. That will hold them some time.

The First Snow.

We witnessed the first fall of snow in the valley here November 25. It did not remain long after "Old Sol" got his eyes open. Since then snow has fallen three times, but not like at home.
The air is very keen now. Men who spent the winter of 1916-17 in this valley state it was the worst winter in 25 years in this section, and the cold weather began exactly as it is now. We are now at work to make our quarters and control station as warm as possible. There is now two inches of snow here, but most of it is from the heavy frosts, which also occur suddenly. A heavy fog and frost settled in the valley one afternoon about 2 o'clock, and continued for three days. At different periods of that time the fog lifted about 50 feet from the ground, and the country was beautiful then. Every bush, hut, wire fence, entanglement, poles, water tank, car, plank and telegraph wire were heavily coated with white frost-fakes and presented an appearance like the country at home after a heavy sleet and snow storm. Then the fog would become dense and settle as suddenly as it had lifted.
Gee! But we were a happy bunch when the sun finally broke through and cleared away the fog, but everything will be the same in appearance yet, and will be there. These frosts occur every morning.

The Men From the Himalayas.

We often see a labor party on the cars as they go by here on the way to work on salvager or railroad material. There are about 200 of them here from the Himalaya mountain in India, known as Naygars. They are a small, wiry race, not very bright, and are rather treacherous. One has to be very careful not to offend them as they would instantly use the small knife they always carry. One of their customs is that should one of them step before the pot in which their dinner is cooking and cause a shadow to fall upon it, that dinner must be thrown away. Not a man will eat it. When dinner is ready they form a circle and the cook serves each man. They sit with their legs crossed under them. They wear large turbans and clothes of all colors with a sash of the same material as their turbans, similar in texture to a Turkish towel. They have a great habit of wearing curios of home and pieces of salvage in their ears, nose, around their neck, legs and arms. They also come to us for "canned" bully (corned beef) and "iron rations" (hardtack) whenever they pass here. We have lots of fun with them, but do not go too far.
It is too dangerous. One young lad had an empty shell case, with the base filed off as a souvenir, on his arm. Then one lad had two strings of shell and ivory as a necklace. We added a necklace of barbwire. He kept it and wore it every time he came by here. One day we placed an empty Borden condensed milk can on each ear of one lad, then they were about two weeks before they disappeared for two empty rifle cartridges. A few days later the prize souvenir appeared in the shape of an old discarded umbrella that looked like a sieve. Perhaps he wasn't a proud man? Perhaps the others didn't envy him his good luck? Whenever he passed here, no matter what the weather was, the souvenir was doing its proper work, and his highness was under it—envied by all the others. Whenever he left the car, the souvenir left also—tightly grasped in one hand. Whenever he worked, it was where he could watch the souvenir, and none dared to get it. We tried once as a joke. Once once! That was sufficient! We would rather not be punctured yet. But the climax came one afternoon while they were here.
All day it had been very quiet, and time was nothing to us. We were ready for a joke. We finally picked out one lad who posed like a superior being as the one for the decoration we were to give away. For two weeks that decoration (2 gal. empty petrol can) had been hidden until such time as we thought right to use it.
One of the "boys" brought it and we walked over to where they were.
We placed the can on his chest, showing how it should be worn and tied the strings around his body.
We had him alright, and he scratched his forehead in a puzzled manner, feeling of the can and string, until one of his comrades laughed. It was all off then. They gave him the ha-ha until he became angry and threw the can in the field.
He was inclined to fight, but the train pulled out, with his comrades laughing at him. Any time he passes our station he turns his back to us while his comrades have a good laugh. (Their laugh is more like a cackle.) It isn't such a bad world after all!

Visits to Blighty.

I often talk with English soldiers going on 14 days' leave to Blighty (England), and when they have returned, their experience, feelings and thoughts on each occasion. And there is not one of them but is eager and willing to be wounded in order to go to England to their homes and spend their convalescent period there. That is because they have had no leave in from eight months to three years. And that time spent here means perhaps many chances at home. Then they speak of the good times while at home during the 14 days. It is a pleasure to see their faces then. But when you watch them when they begin to speak about the expiration of their leave and they must return to their "unit" (regiment), you will notice each one becomes serious, the smile fades, and when they describe the parting from loved ones at home the tears come quickly. They are strong men, but the thoughts of the parting have driven away the pleasure of the 14 days' leave. We have much to be thankful for over here. We will not be able to go home on leave—perhaps many will never come home, and that means we will not have the same experience they have. It is just as well we do not. It is all for the best. When we do return there will be no parting to cloud our days of pleasure. And when they return what a different America will greet them? What a heroic stand and principle America is fighting for? We won't come back till it's over, "over here."

Y. M. C. A. Service in Camp.

Services were held in a Y. M. C. A. tent near our camp August 26. It was one which I will never forget, and I will try and describe the impression and conditions from my view of that Sunday service in the British Y. M. C. A. hut and tent.
The weather was beautiful, more like the reputed climate of France. We were allowed leave to visit any part of the country within a radius of two miles from camp. Many visited the trenches, ruins of houses, other battlements (huts where English were quartered) and a part set aside for the resting place of many who will always remain "somewhere in France." And with a number of other companions, I attended Divine Services. I attended Divine Services at 2 p. m. A large canvas tent, painted with material which acted as "camouflage," served as the church.
There was only a ground floor. The seats were rough boards on wooden posts driven in the ground and had no backs. The platform was built of rough boards placed on empty carriage cases. The pulpit was built in the same manner. On each end of the pulpit was an my shell which served as a vase for a large bouquet of wild red poppies from the fields near our camp. Small hymnals were issued for every two men. The assistant of the Y. M. C. A. called for a volunteer to serve as pianist. As none volunteered, he finally acted as pianist. The piano was one of those "neutral" pianos to be found anywhere along the front. It had served its purpose for many years in other "quiet places," and finally came out here. Many of the keys were out of tune; but none cared or appeared to notice it. The chaplain was the man in charge of the British Y. M. C. A. The men were allowed to state the number of any hymns desired to sing. The responses of the men, the solemn sermon and the surroundings served as an atmosphere which held many men in an attentive mood. There was no disturbance among the men. Several who had just come off duty spent their time in sleep during the sermon; but the majority realized the meaning of that sermon and those conditions and surroundings. The chaplain shook hands with every man at the close of the services, as they slowly filed out of the tent to go to their "units" (regiments). (During the sermon I was notified to join mine as soon as the services were through—that our regiment would not move until 6 o'clock that evening to the camp which is yet our regimental headquarters.) Before the services began I studied the faces of the men and was surprised at the intelligence and excellent physical condition of all present. There were men present from 21 different regiments, battalions and divisions represented by Australians, Canadians,
New Zealanders, Gurkhas, Naygars, Irish, English, Scots, French, Belgians and Americans. The different uniforms and appearance of the men was a picture one would not forget in a long time. After they filed from the tent, I noticed many hand shakes between the men who had served from the same book together, before they separated in different directions. And I wondered if I would they ever meet again in the future place—or would they ever attend other services elsewhere—any future Sunday? One never knows "over here" what the next day will be?
During my travels I have met and talked with some fine chaps. And—well, every man longs for the comforts of the home—"Somewhere be-

PHOENICIA.

Phoenicia, June 15.—The Choral Society will give an entertainment Thursday evening, June 20, in the hall. A patriotic cantata will be rendered after which the program will be varied. Piano selections, ladies' trio, choruses, violin solo. The very attractive drills will be given by the girls under the direction of Miss Chaffee. Miss Clancy who recites nicely will render a selection. Come and enjoy the excellent program which opens at 8:30. Ice cream will be served at the close.

Grand Old Man of Liberty.

Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Md., was the signer of the Declaration of Independence who lived longest after July 4, 1776. He survived until November 13, 1832.

LUTHERANS AID W. S. S.

Have Quietly Put Their Shoulder to the Wheel.

One of the best attended gatherings in the school rooms of Immanuel Lutheran Church was held last Friday evening, June 14, as a rousing rally for the support of our country and flag by means of war savings stamps.

Arranged by the building committee, consisting of Pastor F. T. Schroeder, chairman, H. W. Gronemeyer, treasurer, F. Sahloff, Fred Stedt, Sr., and W. B. Rudenhausen, and assisted by the W. S. S. committee of the Immanuel and Young Men's Societies, the following program was rendered:

1. Star Spangled Banner, by the audience.
2. Address by Pastor F. T. Schroeder.
3. Vocal solo, "God be with My Boy Tonight," by Gustav Koch.
4. Address by Waldorf Duennemann.

5. Song by Thrift Stamp Committee, "The Story of Old Glory."
6. Address by Postmaster DeWitt.
7. Closing song, "America."

George C. Bode acted as chairman introducing the speakers. The first speaker, Pastor Schroeder, explained in his address the plan which was adopted by the congregation of the Immanuel Lutheran Church in the last regular meeting. Since the president of our country has requested all congregations to participate in the drive for the third Liberty Loan, but as the members have been solicited by their various places of business to buy bonds, the congregation decided to make a special drive for thrift stamps.

The congregation previously had created a building committee to erect a new school building with a large and spacious hall for the many social gatherings during the year. The funds collected for this purpose should be invested in War Savings Stamps and all members buying Thrift Stamps could turn them over to the building committee and thereby serve the twofold purpose of helping Uncle Sam in this great war and also helping the church.

That the Immanuel Lutheran Church was willing to help Uncle Sam and prove their loyalty as true Americans was evidenced by the fact that the members of the congregation have invested $7,000 in Liberty Bonds and $300 in W. S. S. In active service of our country are 25 of their young men.

Waldorf Duennemann, the next speaker, gave a rousing appeal to loyalty and later in the evening he received many congratulations for his stirring address.

The main speaker of the evening, Postmaster DeWitt, in his eloquent manner, showed by short extracts from history, what the German nation is and its relation to our country, and why we are in war.

"When the present world war began," he continued, "our president took the stand of firm neutrality. As the war was going on, England committed many acts through which we lost property. But property can be replaced. Germany committed acts by which many of our citizens lost their lives, and lives cannot be replaced. So war had to come."

"Americans of German descent have nothing to be ashamed of. They have a right to teach German in their schools. The government does not forbid it. But let them be loyal and stand behind the president now as they have done in the past."

Regarding the W. S. S. the postmaster said it was the plan of our government and our governor that in the coming drive the head of every family should pledge himself to buy as many W. S. S. as he can, the average ought to be about $20 to December, 1918.

The first authorization card as a government agent for selling W. S. S. in Ulster county, N. Y., was issued to Pastor Schroeder.

After singing the closing song, "My Country," a social hour was enjoyed by every one present.

METTACHONTS.
Mettachonts, June 17.—There will be an ice cream party held at the school house on Saturday evening, June 22. Everybody welcome. Proceeds for the Willing Workers.

The next meeting of the Willing Workers will be held at the home of Mrs. Jacob Hornbeck July 6.

Mrs. Russell Miller entertained relatives on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Markle of Whitefield called on friends on Friday evening.

Mrs. Jane Osterhout spent Friday with Mrs. Jesse Osterhout.

Kingston Has a Large Contingent to be Drawn On When the Harvesting Begins—Two Drafts Now in the Fields.

Enrollment of recruits for war needs to be placed on the farms as fast as help is called for by the farmers continues steadily and the best class of Kingston's sturdy, working citizens are ready to take off their coats and go to it.

Today's enrollment which brings the total up to more than 150, includes a number who are more or less familiar with farm work. Men who are able to handle traction engines are included in today's list which follows. Just ask for traction men, for those who are able to handle any kind of farm machinery or any other experts and the Chambers of Commerce can send you the men.

For example, the Farm Labor Bureau, Kingston, Green St., tell him how many you want, what part of the farm work they are needed in, and how long you want them and you will get results.

Anticipating a large need as soon as having begins, which will then continue on through the summer until apples are picked, it is desired to enroll one thousand men in Kingston. It is desired that his number shall be recruited without delay.

COUNTRY NOW HAS BIG PORK RESERVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 17.—Pork products, piling up hundreds of thousands of pounds above consumption, have given the American public a reserve of more than a billion pounds the food administration announced today. This is enough to feed the allied forces for more than a month, said food officials, and would provide meat for the civilian population here for nearly two months.

The American pig is doing his bit. He is multiplying so fast that not only have we been able to send pork across the seas as fast as we could have it, but have produced this vast store of surplus meat," according to a food official in charge of meats.

There should be a drop in the high prices now prevailing for pork, if the stocks continue to accumulate, it was pointed out.

One reason for the high range of prices was the housewife's desire to have only choice cuts of pork, officials said. A drive to educate the housewife to buy cheaper cuts of meat is under consideration by the food administration, and may start before the end of the week, it was learned.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lewis announce that the wedding of their daughter, Almada, has been indefinitely postponed.

Mrs. Sarah Gilday of 164 Highland avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Sadie A. Gilday, to M. J. Kelly of New York city.

At the graduating exercises to be held this evening in St. Mary's Hall for the Benedictine Sanitarium nurses, an informal reception will be held at the close of the program. Dancing will be enjoyed, music being furnished by members of the Musicians' Union. No invitations have been issued this year, but the public is cordially invited to attend.

Friday evening about twenty women friends called at the home of Miss Sadie Gilday at No. 164 Highland avenue while she was absent from home. When she returned later, she was greatly surprised by the appearance of her friends and the variety shower tendered her in honor of her approaching marriage to M. J. Kelly of New York City. After the gifts of cut glass, china ware, silver and linen were made, the remainder of the evening was spent with music and light refreshments were served. At a late hour the guests departed for their homes, wishing the bride-to-be a happy and prosperous future. Those present were the Misses Etta Weber, Irene Uhl, May Bergen, May Reilly, Marjorie Guemar, Jennie Doyle, Anna Keeley, Edna McCaardie, Hazel Hutton, Dorothy Koch, Mildred Koch, Marie Sweeney, Katherine Recendall, Martha Lahood, Sadie Baxter, Anna Formenton, Bessie Rafferty, Mrs. P. Gilday, Mrs. E. Robinson, Mrs. D. Lammon and Mrs. J. Sweeney.

Lints-Krom.

Harold A. Lints, sergeant at Headquarters Co., 303rd Infantry, Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., and Helen Rose Krom, of High Falls, N. Y., were married at the home of the bride Saturday morning, June 15, by the Rev. G. C. Dangremond, the bride's minister.

Piano Recital.

On Saturday afternoon the young pupils of both Mrs. Harry P. Dodge and Harry P. Dodge gave a fine piano recital at the Dodge Studio on Green street. Considerable budding talent was shown by the pupils, and excellent training and careful practice was evidenced in every number played. The first half of the program was devoted to the little folks. In Mrs. Dodge's class, and was as follows:

The Bogie Man.....Swift
Lionel Wood.
Song of the Armorer.....Gibson
Alfred Van Buren.
Bird Song.....Rogers
James Thompson.
a. Petite Valse.....Denece
b. Hunting Song.....Dana
Pauline Herb.
Youth and Joy.....Schytte
Ruth Keator
In the Boat.....Frankie
Natalie DeWitt
Hide and Seek.....Schytte
Ruth Lewis.
a. Happy Wanderer.....Jensen
b. The Brook.....Karganoff
Margaret Shields.
Duet:
a. Album Leaf; b. In Spring.....Low
Natalie DeWitt and Ruth Lewis.
Forest Birds.....Jensen
Margaret Messinger.
Collinette.....Beaumont
Gertrude Walsh.
Duet:
a. The Brownies.....Mrs. Beach
b. Robin Red Breast.....Mrs. Beach
c. Twilight.....Jensen
Gertrude Walsh and Margaret Messinger.

While all of the little people played well, showing considerable musicianship, it would not be out of order to make mention of the last group of duets, not only because of the excellence with which they were played, but also because of the charm of the compositions themselves. Abraham Merline was the first of Mr. Dodge's pupils to play giving a graceful performance of Denece's Waltz Op. 15, No. 5. He was followed by Agatha Flich, who played nicely a Godard Waltz. Elizabeth Liebig gave an excellent performance of "Pas Des Eschapes," by Chaminade, full of difficult modulations. Paderevski's "Un Moment Musical" was given careful rendition by Jaquelin Winston. "Autumn Enchantment," by Wilson Smith was the pleasing number played by Edith Haas. This was followed by a very graceful performance of "Balancelle" by Wachs, played by Zadel Herb. A particularly graceful number was Spindler's "My Little Boat," played by Josephine Ingalsbe, followed by Dorothy Denger who gave a musicianly rendering of Saint Saens' "Romance Sans Parole." Much talent and careful study was shown by Helen Dwyer in her playing of the charming and elaborate "Deuxieme Valse Lente," by Dorn. The program closed with Beethoven's beautiful and brilliant "Rondo in C. Op. 51, No. 1," played with artistic interpretation and exceptionally fine technique, betokening real talent, by Katherine Kearney.

A Gingham Dress Has Now Become the Apparel of Honor For All Women —

Probably you have never worn a gingham dress on the street before. Probably you thought it wasn't fine enough. That was before we went to war. It was before the Government demanded thrift and before wool was so very high in cost.

Nowadays the leaders of fashion, women who have never worn a cotton dress before in all their lives and particularly a street dress, are wearing gingham dresses to-day and they are proud to do it.

And so to have the kind of garments that the women of Kingston will also be demanding; to meet the needs of the Nation, we have assembled a very unusual and desirable collection of gingham dresses in several very effective and unusually pretty styles.

STORED MUCH FROZEN MEAT

Berlin has 2,200 tons of frozen meat in its municipal cold storage depots. The supply is replenished from time to time so that it remains at that figure. On their present meat ration of one-half pound, the Vossische Zeitung says, the Berliners are assured of meat enough to last all Greater Berlin two or three weeks, even if there should be a temporary stoppage of replenishments.

How the cold storage of pork has helped Germany to "stick it" is explained in an article in the Chemiker Zeitung. Early in the war, realizing the serious effect of the British blockade on the meat supply, the government directed the refrigerating industry to mobilize its resources on the largest possible scale. It was ordered to make preparations for dealing with millions instead of thousands of pigs. Cold storage plants were enlarged, new ones built, and the system so extended that today there is hardly a local community without its own refrigerating facilities.

Every fortress has a freezing plant of its own. In case of siege it will assist materially in the preservation of perishable foods, especially meat, eggs, fish and butter.

"The German authorities," says the article, "have taken advantage of cold storage to the fullest extent, thereby greatly easing the economic conduct of the war."

Suicides Among Japanese Students.

According to Rev. Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, who lived long in the Far East, suicides among Japanese students are probably more prevalent than among any other students in the world. The causes he mentions are, first, the high-strung nerves and exceptional sensitivity to anything that may be regarded as a personal humiliation; and second, the extraordinary competition among students to secure places in the government schools.

TELL OF LONDON'S HISTORY

Collection of Wonderfully Interesting Relics in the Whitechapel Art Galleries.

In a small space in the Whitechapel art galleries there is a fascinating collection which reconstitutes the history of London from the days when the Britons watched the galleys of the Romans sweeping up the Thames river. There are bits of Roman pottery found in the Thames mud. Photographs and prints show how bits of the old Roman wall may still be touched by living hands. And so throughout the long story of the great old city there are reminders of its varying phases, of its ceaseless change; a beautiful piece of carving by Grindling Gibbons, or one of his school. In St. Paul's grotesquely carved brackets of wood that once supported the beams of Tudor houses; iron brackets beautifully wrought by ancient craftsmen; leather jacks, out of which some Faustian quaffed his sack; clay pipes, smoked in Queen Elizabeth's day by men who sailed the Spanish main; the old

These, and many other relics, bring back the spirit of oldtime London to men and women who go to the quiet and restful place from the rush of modern life in Whitechapel.

Some Old-Day Battles.

The great odds in numbers which the British army has had to face on the western front is no rare experience in its annals. Wellington has borne witness to that fact in his remarks that Talavera was the only battle in which he had a numerical superiority, owing to the presence of the Spaniards, who, while showing much personal gallantry, were badly led. At all his other battles he had fewer men than the enemy. "At Salamanca I had 40,000 men, and the French perhaps 45,000. At Vittoria I had 60,000 men against 70,000. At Waterloo the proportion was still more against me. I had 58,000 to 59,000; Napoleon had near 80,000. The whole army in the south of France under my command was considerably larger than the force of Soult at the battle of Toulouse, but in numbers actually employed in that battle I had less than he." All of which goes to show that strength and success do not necessarily lie with mere weight of numbers. There are other factors vastly more essential.—Christian Science Monitor.

Braking Airplane While Flying.

A braking mechanism for airplanes has recently been introduced, according to the Popular Science Monthly. This consists of two rectangular planes of small area, mounted on a shaft that runs along the rear edge of the main plane, and passes through the fuselage. The control is by means of a hand-wheel and connections, which act in conjunction with a handbrake. When an airplane is flying at a rate of a hundred miles an hour the air pressure is not less than 30 pounds to the square foot. It will thus be seen that the added resistance of a few extra square feet of canvas has a very great retarding action on the speed of the plane.

High Powered Bread.

What do you think of a slice of bread that has the same food value as a beefsteak sandwich? It isn't a dream nor an exaggeration. It is a fact supported by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is based on chemical analyses of and experiments with soy-bean flour, a "new" product that is expected to "pinch hit" for wheat, and not only to do that, but to work in meat's place as well. The "high-powered bread" that as the scientific resemblance to a beefsteak sandwich does not even use all of the "volume" of the soy-bean flour. This bread has been made from a mixture of 30 per cent soy-bean flour and 70 per cent wheat flour. It is extremely high in the protein element and is really a substitute for protein foods such as meat and cheese.

of 119 Highland avenue. Now serving his country in the United States Navy as mail clerk on the U. S. S. Calamaries, transport ship. Enlisted March 29, 1918, sailed for France April 16, making his second trip May 18, 1918. Mr. Anderson served a term in the U. S. navy at the time of the trouble with Mexico. Later he volunteered and went to Camp Whitman with Company M, this making his third time to serve Uncle Sam.

POOR COAL CAUSED

A carload of poor coal caused the local trolley road considerable trouble Sunday and the firemen at the power plant on the Strand in Ponchokkie had to work hard to keep up steam and generate enough electricity to run the trolley cars. Shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday evening the trouble started. The cars would run for a short distance and then were forced to stop until the power came on again. General Manager Tebow engaged a taxi to convey six Ponchokkie passengers to their home as the trolley car that was to have gone through only went as far as the ferry. Mr. Tebow said this morning that all of the people at Kingston Point Park were able to leave by trolley.

Children's Day Exercises.

Children's Day was observed Sunday morning at the Rondout Presbyterian Church with an exceptionally fine program which had been arranged by Superintendent Fred L. Van Deusen and his efficient staff of helpers. The church was artistically trimmed and decorated with flowers. The musical end of the program was in charge of Dr. C. H. Bishop, chorister of the Sunday school, while the choir, under the direction of Miss Los Kamp, the contralto soloist, assisted. The Children's Day program this year was of a patriotic nature, which was reflected not only in the music but also in the recitations of the children who had been carefully drilled by Mrs. Charles L. Coles.

The Rev. Dr. C. G. Ellis, pastor of the church, gave one of the finest Children's Day talks he has given in years, and the lesson he drove home was not only for the children but applied to the older folks as well. Dr. Ellis had with him what he termed his "little preachers." There was much curiosity among the children as he placed a hat box on the table and began his address. The contents of the box proved to be bottles tightly corked. The first was filled with pure water and no matter how hard it was shaken it never became roily. This was "Mr. Always to be Depended Upon." The next bottle when shaken became a fiery red. This was "Mr. Sometimes to be Depended Upon." The fourth bottle when shaken up became extremely roily and took a long time to settle. This was "Mr. Hardly Ever to be Depended Upon." The fifth bottle when taken out proved to be filled with a dark liquor. This was "Mr. Never to be Depended Upon." By using these bottles as an illustration Dr. Ellis drove home the fact that the best men and women in the community were those who were like "Mr. Always to be Depended Upon."

Dr. Ellis emphasized the fact that while outwardly we may all look to be pure and clean it was what was in our hearts that made us like "Mr. Always to be Depended Upon." The only way that "Mr. Never to be Depended Upon" could be made like "Mr. Always to be Depended Upon" was by emptying the bottle and filling it with pure clear water. Though our hearts are black, God in His Book has promised to make them pure and clean if we will only let him.

The program was brought to a close with the singing of America. The exercises were considered the best held by the Sunday school in a long time, and reflect great credit not only upon those who took part but also upon those who had so carefully arranged the program.

Kingston Point Sunday Services.

A short religious service was held in the Casino at Kingston Point Park at one o'clock Sunday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Howard Kanter of New Baltimore, who delivered a brief, but pleasing address on the subject of "Loyalty." Music for the singing was furnished by the Day Line Albany orchestra. The Hudson Day Line has arranged to hold services at the Point every Sunday during the summer to which the public is cordially invited.

STRAWBERRY CROP
NEARLY EXHAUSTED

Apparently 60 Per Cent Normal—Five Million Dollars to Ulster Fruit Growers This Year—Timely News of Other Fruit Conditions.

The warning has gone out. It's a short season. Pickings following the first are yielding but few strawberries in condition to pick for they don't mature or ripen fast enough.

An authority says five million dollars will have gone to the Ulster county fruit raisers when the season is over, when the last apple has been picked and the frost is on the ground.

It's a sixty per cent crop of strawberries as it now runs. Raspberries look better. Currants from one-third to one half crop. Peaches, none. All the strawberries that can be picked it is expected will be gathered and marketed this week.

Prices have rarely dropped below 20 cents. For a few days Kingston consumers were getting them at that price. Friday and Saturday they were paying that here while in Poughkeepsie consumers were paying 22 cents.

Growers on the same days were getting even more. Even as high as 30 cents f. o. b. at Milton was paid for a Saturday shipment.

Highly Remunerative.

Though prices have been so variable and quotations not usefully informative, strawberries have brought the producers greater financial returns than for years. A sixty per cent crop harvested at a minimum cost for picking has proven highly remunerative.

Milton growers in some instances placed entire pickings in the New York market Saturday at 30 cents a box net.

A representative of a Boston house combed three towns hoping to make up one car Saturday. He was told nothing doing. The growers were not picking that day and they didn't have the berries.

Large Personal Gains.

Dennis Mahoney received a check for $600 for two loads delivered at Milton docks.

Fred Viscount has been paid by the association $2,000 for strawberries, and his crop not all picked. He got one check for $490 for one day's picking, and another for $600 for a single day's picking.

Net prices quoted at Milton Saturday for producers:

Raspberries 15 to 16c
Currants 15 to 30c
Quotations were of no use where there were no berries.

Conditions governed offers. The Boston house says we need this car load at any price.

Growers answering the 'phone of Milton of the day said we have none. And so it went on.

One Year Fruit Was Plowed In.

With barely more than a week's picking of the 1918 strawberry crop almost gathered and promptly sold, strawberries may be in the market, it is stated, not much longer than this week. Ninety-five per cent of berries picked have already been moved, according to the statement of Manager Ralph B. Crowell of the Hudson River Fruit Exchange, the association as it is called. The crop when picked is the three per cent under normal productions.

It's the earliest and shortest season in twenty years, was the statement all through the fruit section to the Freeman reporter, who made the trip among growers Saturday.

One year Ulster growers plowed under ripe juicy strawberries they didn't pay to pick.

Heavy Picking Stopped Short.

Lack of essential fertilizers, a sulking sun, the damp cold spell of the week and the red bugs, as murderously active as the Kaiser's submarines, are torpedoing Ulster's fruit crop.

The first picking was heavy though pickers came late and slow and growers are still short of the help that are needed. Five hundred men and women in the southern Ulster Hudson river towns.

Then with barely more than a week picking it stopped short.

The Crop Was Short.

The second pickings were found to be strangely ragged. The fields were ineffectual to supply daily demand of buyers, including representatives from New York and New England produce houses.

The first time through the vines with heavy picking generally means a slackening in the follow-up pickings. This year notably so. In normal seasons the second picking yields three times the first. This year it was less than half the first. The growths were short. The lagged fruit is not developing and ripening.

Soil Weak and Tired.

In many patches there was not a respectable second picking. In others there was not even ready fruit to begin on. In none was the fruit sufficient to make a profitable picking.

So all picking stopped. Nobody picked on Saturday.

The soil had become weak and tired. Nitrates used to quickly tone and invigorate are not to be had. The war is taking all of them. Manure can not replace nitrates. Had the condition been foreseen growers might have spread more manure compost freely in the winter.

The growers regarded the price for manure as too high, $1.20 to $1.40 in cold months delivery. In the summer they expect to pay 20 cents to 40 cents.

But the transportation of manure through the three towns, Marlborough, Milton and Highland, in the summer is forbidden.

Favorable for Bush Grown Berries.

Intimating practically the same in berries and currants as strawberries. Then he continued:

Perfections Exceptionally Fine.

"Currants—Prospects for the wilder, one-third crop; the Fays, a full crop; Perfections, exceptionally fine with no shelling off at the ends of the stems and ripening two weeks earlier than usual. Market conditions (June 15) fair, now selling in New York market at 15 cents f. o. b. at Highland station.

Red Bug Appears.

"Red Raspberries—Pull crop. Prospects good for big prices, as the Jersey crop is reported light."

"Grapes—Good prospects with at present no sign of destructive agencies. Too early to ascertain the sort of fruit we are going to get."

"Pears—Crop light. Fruit good. Apples—Crop light, especially Baldwins. The red bug which stings the apple has appeared. It is to be controlled by spraying with 'black leaf 40' at blossom time."

"Blackberries, badly frozen."

Inquiries in Milton brought the universal reply there will be no peaches. Peaches were frozen this spring.

Peaches Were Frozen.

"The strawberry crop is about all in the market," said B. Crowell, manager of the H. R. Exchange.

"The prices have been higher than we have ever known. Cherries are very light but bringing good money. Raspberries give promise of a good crop and are in the beginning of picking."

As currants are to yield about one-third of the crop, high prices may be anticipated. All pears a fair crop. Apples the same. No peaches. They were frozen out in the winter.

High Grade Ammonia Used.

"Our growers usually dependent on what we call hobo pickers are this season well supplied with boys from New York. We have many Italian growers who are the best and are dependable. This year they are some where in war service. So growers are shy on pickers. We get everything we want in fertilizers except nitrates. We are using the only substitute, or at least the best, which does not really take the place of nitrates. It is high grade tankage of ammonia. There is no scarcity of fruit packages, but the price has gone up about fifty per cent."

Directs Boy Pickers.

W. J. Weaver, who has the direction of the high school boys from New York city picking berries, is the director of the New York Zone, comprising Columbia and Ulster and counties down the river to the sea, for the New York State Boys' Working Reserve. Last year they are some known as farm cadets.

Not Many Cherries.

"There will be not much doing over here in cherries," he said, referring to Ulster county. He is located at Highland, and is probably the best informed on fruit conditions. He looks for a large crop of cherries around Germantown.

Five Hundred Pickers Wanted.

Daily inspections of the fruit farms between Highland and Newburgh by Mr. Weaver in charge of the boys is a live man's job. He promises to receive and locate young pickers who fill the bill if the matter is first taken up with him.

Order of Picking.

The Boys Reserve Corps in the fields are less than 100.

Five hundred pickers are wanted

this week. They can be kept busy until August first. This week they would go into raspberries followed by currants. Later would follow cherries and blackberries, and early grapes. In the meantime early pears with late grapes followed by late pears and then apple picking.

There are five camps in the lower towns and on down to Newburgh. Twenty boys and a superintendent should fill each camp. They are high school boys from New York.

Organized Picking.

Some of the camps have not got a full quota, but only high school boys in the services would be recruited to fill the camp quota. The camps at Marlborough are under the working direction of Harry Millsap; at Newburgh H. J. McCreary.

Each camp has a trained boy cook. The boys pay their pro rata share for food. They are furnished domicile properly fitted with necessary conveniences. The cost of living for each boy is about $2 a week. They are paid two cents a quart for picking.

Big Pickers' Day June 21.

Working 6 1/2 hours a day the first day of picking they made from $1.25 to $1.40 each. June 24th is the big pickers' day. A boat load of reserves will be landed early in the morning at Poughkeepsie and distributed in camps where most needed. Only the boys who have had regents are brought out to pick in the reserves.

Chance for School Girls.

Camps of girls for pickers are favored if brought from the schools. N. M. Thatcher of Highland, located on the state road is to have a camp of girls foisted on to his premises this week. Those camps pointed out to the writer were farm houses in excellent condition given over to the superintendent and his squad. The boys are under absolute discipline.

Places For School Boys Out of Regents.

The large berry growing farms in Highland needing pickers are those of Jerome Pratt, A. W. Williams, D. Dean, George H. Brown, D. Mahoney, S. Vaccara, Frank Wilklow, Ed. McManus, Phil. Wilklow, John Fischer, LeGrand Haviland, Charles Kniffen, Hart & McNicholas Alfred Hopper. Some of the others are only partly provided.

In Milton there are John Shea, Ed. Young, A. Black & Son, James Powders, Richard Dowd, James Conklin, Mike Dowd, James Dowd, F. W. Vail, J. R. Clarke & Son, A. J. Palmer & Son, Fred Woolsey, A. J. Hepworth & Son, the fruit premium men, J. A. Driscoll, William Cubbard, Andrew Gersch, Ed. Martin, Thomas McManus, Dennis Mahoney, Fred Viscount.

Locating Boy Camps.

In Marlborough camps are being located at C. G. Velle & Son's, S. B. Wygant's, W. S. Wright's, F. J. Morrow & Son's, A. L. Morehead's, Thomas Conway's, G. G. Fowler's, William S. Purdy's, H. C. Wygant's.

Housewives Take Warning.

There will be probably very little canning of berries for the homes, owing to the prices of berries and sugar and the unusual limitations in both. But if berries are to be canned those who wait to get them at the low prices of past seasons will very likely find themselves without the fruit, or with the necessity of paying a price unusually large for canning purposes. The demand which will take all of the crop at prevailing and even higher prices comes from preservative firms.

INSPIRING SERVICE SUNDAY NIGHT

At St. James' M. E. Church—Masonic and Eastern Star Lodges Attend—War Sermon by Dr. Baragwanath.

A congregation that filled St. James' M. E. Church Sunday night enjoyed the special service held to commemorate St. John's Day. Members of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. and A. M., Rondon Lodge, No. 243, and Kingston Chapter and Clifton Chapter Order of the Eastern Star, occupied seats in the front. There was special music, the regular choir of the church being assisted by the Masonic quartet. The Rev. Dr. T. H. Baragwanath preached a patriotic sermon. The church was decorated with flowers and flags. The service flag of the Masons decorated the pulpit.

Dr. Baragwanath, who is a Mason, welcomed the members of the fraternity in a felicitous manner. He referred to the observance of St. John's Day, giving the religious significance of the "Fires of St. John." The preacher said we would in our way celebrate the day, namely by bringing fresh fuel for the fire of freedom kindled in this land and kept burning ever since the battle of Lexington led up to the surrender at Yorktown, and the freedom of the American Colonies.

Dr. Baragwanath paid a just tribute to the unselfish loyalty of German-born citizens, multitudes of whom are to be found in the army and navy—a fact most distasteful to the Kaiser and his war party. The great congregation seemed to be spellbound as the preacher made an eloquent plea that the war be waged to a successful finish, no matter what the cost, in order to make liberty and justice supreme in the earth.

Feeds Suggested For June.

Dairy cows on pasture may well be given a heavier feed than under other conditions. Cottonseed meal may be used in place of oil meal in rations, because the oil meal may cause scouring. The following are the mixtures suggested by the state college of agriculture for different kinds of livestock in June:

For dairy cows—500 pounds wheat feed, 600 pounds gluten feed, 500 pounds oil meal, 500 pounds hominy.

For beef cattle—50 per cent hominy, 50 per cent cottonseed meal.

For pigs—Equal parts of middlings and hominy. In the absence of skim-milk or buttermilk, feed 10 per cent by weight of tankage to growing pigs.

For lambs—400 pounds hominy, 300 pounds bran, 200 pounds oil meal, 100 pounds gluten feed.

Where wheat bran or wheat feed is suggested, oat feed, barley feed, or a light ready-mixed feed can be used if it is impossible to get the wheat by-products, says the college.

WOLF FAILED TO APPEAR IN COURT

John Wolf Had Fletcher Banks Arrested on Assault Charge and Then Failed to Press Charge—Banks Was Discharged.

An outcome of Friday's episode on Abbot street when Fletcher Banks, a negro employed by Abe Vogel, knocked down John Wolf, who has a saloon on that street, for calling him vile names, was the arrest of Banks on a warrant sworn out by Mr. Wolf. Mr. Banks was paroled until this morning, when he appeared in police court to answer to the charge.

When the case was called it was found that Mr. Wolf had failed to put in an appearance and was not present in the city hall to press the charge.

W. D. Brinnier, Jr., who represented Mr. Banks, moved for the discharge of his client, and the request was granted by the court and the complaint dismissed.

They may be other interesting developments later.

BEFORE JUDGE JENKINS.

Referee's Report in Mortgage Foreclosure Action Approved—Supplementary Proceedings Close.

County Judge Jenkins has approved the report of the referee in the mortgage foreclosure action brought by Herman S. Wells against Joseph Mizraeh and others, and has ordered the referee to sell the mortgaged premises, property in the town of Wawarsing, John R. De Vries appeared for the plaintiff.

In the supplementary proceedings brought by Theresa Moehring against William C. Davis, upon motion of Frank W. Brooks, attorney for the judgment debtor, the case was adjourned for two weeks. Von Kiten and Cook represent the judgment creditor.

Chamber of Commerce Members.

The recent decision of the Court in regard to delinquent members of the Chamber of Commerce rendered at Middletown is of interest to members everywhere. The officers of the Chamber of Commerce brought action against a delinquent member who refused to pay his annual dues after signing. The court decided that this was a binding contract and rendered a decision in favor of the Chamber of Commerce, and gave judgment against the delinquent member.

Day Line Sunday Service.

The Hudson River Day Line inaugurated their Sunday boat service yesterday. The Robert Fulton arrived at the Point with a large number of passengers for Kingston and the Hudson river at one-half fare. Over 125 boarded the boat bound for points north. On account of the low stage of water many people are patronizing the boats in preference to the railroads.

Mrs. Mason of Marius Street Now Has Possession of Handsome Teddy—Judge Schirick to Decide Who Owns Teddy Wednesday.

Mrs. Mason of Marius street, on Saturday, through her attorney, V. B. Van Wageningen, started legal proceedings to secure possession of Teddy, the handsome Scotch collie, which was taken from her the other day by City Marshal Rice in proceedings brought by Mrs. Cecelia Wentworth of Peekamoose and Paris, France.

As told in The Freeman at the time, City Marshal Rice secured the dog and removed him to the veterinary stables of Dr. J. A. Huhn on West Union street, where Teddy was placed in the care of Charlie Belton. The ownership of Teddy is contested by both women. Mrs. Wentworth claims she boarded him at the Mason home, and Mrs. Mason claims Teddy was presented to her by Mrs. Wentworth.

The hearing to determine who owns Teddy has been set down for Wednesday in city court before Judge Schirick.

W. D. Brinnier, Jr., is looking out for the interests of Mrs. Wentworth.

Archie Now Has Ring.

Over eighteen years ago Archie Winter, the downtown expressman, left a gold seal ring with the late John T. Bond, the veteran watch dealer on the Strand, to be reduced to fit his finger. Several times Mr. Winter spoke to Mr. Bond about it, but in some way the ring was not repaired. As time went on Mr. Winter forgot about it himself. This ring went through the Van Dusen fire on the Strand when Mr. Bond's stock was damaged. Last week Mr. Winter thought of the ring and went to Miss Bond, who has Mr. Bond's stock at her home, picked the ring out and is now wearing it.

War Lecture By Dr. Matthews.

The Educational Committee of the Women's Branch of the Home Defense Committee of Ulster County is pleased to announce that the long delayed lecture by Dr. Matthews will be given at the high school on Friday evening of this week, June 21st, at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged and it is hoped that there will be a large audience in attendance to pay compliment to this gifted and patriotic woman.

Day Line Half Fare For Soldiers.

On and after June 15 until further notice the Hudson River Day Line will sell to any soldier or sailor in uniform local tickets to points on the Hudson river at one-half fare. This applies only to regularly enlisted officers and men in uniform, and no furlough or certificate is required in order that they may avail themselves of this courtesy.

POLICE COURT WAS BUSY PLACE TODAY

Police court came back into its today when Saturday and Sunday resulted in half a dozen cases which came up for a hearing before Judge Schirick this morning.

Max Millers was arrested Saturday by Officer Soper on a charge of running his auto past a trolley car, discharging passengers at the entrance to the high school. Max was fined $2 by the court.

John C. Landoni was arrested by Officer Soper Saturday evening on a charge of disorderly conduct and was paroled to answer in police court this morning. John somehow failed to "keep the date." A warrant was late, sworn out for his arrest.

William C. Harp, an out of town man, was arrested by Sheriff Smith for violating the traffic ordinance. He deposited $5 bail for his appearance in court today. He failed to appear and the bail was forfeited.

John Condon, 16 years old, was arrested Saturday by Officer Shadr for shooting off fire crackers in front of the central post office. He was placed on probation for six months.

Other cases in court will be found elsewhere.

WOMEN ALIENS REGISTER TODAY

Today was the first day of the registration of women aliens at the five headquarters and at the central post office. Women aliens have until June 26 to register, but are urged to appear at the registration place before that so that the work may be finished in season. All women aliens in Kingston must register at the city hall, and those residing in the rural communities surrounding the city, at the post office.

The Rev. A. Schmidt, pastor of the Spring Street German Lutheran Church on Sunday morning and evening called the attention of his congregation to the W. S. S. drive and urged his people to back up the government by taking an active part in the drive by buying W. S. S. He announced that he was ready to receive orders for War Saving Stamps and at the close of the services secured a number of orders. Orders will be received by him over the telephone also. His call is 1516-J.

Kingston Office of U. C. T.

At the eighteenth annual session of the Grand Council of United Commercial Travelers held at Oneonta last week Mason E. Shultz of this city was re-elected grand treasurer of the organization for the ensuing year.

AUTO DEAL AIRED IN COURT.

Judge Schirick Dismissed Complaint Against Steinhardt.

Leo Steinhardt, of 29 Chambers street was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Hyman Karp of 71 Broadway, charging Steinhardt with larceny in the second degree. This morning when he came up for a hearing before Judge Schirick, the court granted the motion of W. H. Grogan, who represented Steinhardt, to dismiss the complaint on the grounds that Karp's remedy, if any, was in civil court.

It developed that Steinhardt and Maurice H. Friedman are in partnership. They own a Ford car. Steinhardt made arrangements to buy the car for $220 and paid $20 out of it. Somehow the deal fell through, and it is claimed Steinhardt returned Karp the $20.

Karp claimed that when he was ready to pay the $200 balance that Steinhardt refused to turn over the car to him.

Mr. Grogan contended that there was no criminal action and the court agreed with him and discharged Steinhardt.

The case excited a good deal of interest down town.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Not to know at large of things remote from me, but to know what which before us lies in daily life is prime wisdom.

GOOD THINGS AND INEXPENSIVE.

Beef Liver With Onions—Slice the liver very thin. Remove all veins and dust with seasoned flour. Slice six onions thin and fry them until soft in a little bacon fat. Remove the onions on one side, turn, put the onions on top and finish cooking. Remove to a hot platter, add a little water to the fat in the pan to make the gravy, then pour it over the liver.

Hominy and Tomato.—Take two cupfuls of hominy and combine with well seasoned tomato, using a cupful seasoned with two tablespoonfuls each of fat and flour cooked together and added with salt and pepper to the tomato. Mix all together and bake in a well buttered baking pan, cover with buttered crumbs the last of the baking. Keep covered until the crumbs are put on, then let them brown and serve hot.

Vegetable Chowder.—Dice six slices of fat bacon and cook it until brown, add two onions sliced thin, and cook until soft in the bacon fat. Combine a can of lima beans with four large potatoes cut in cubes, and a quart of milk. Add the bacon and onions and cook until the potatoes are done. Thicken with two tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with a little of the cold milk, add four and a half teaspoonfuls of salt, a can of okra and stir in a can of tomatoes, adding a fourth of a teaspoonful of soda as they come to the boiling point.

Dried Beans With Cream.—Soak a half cupful of beans; any variety except the navy, and cook in the same water until tender. Season with salt and pepper and sweet cream; two or three tablespoonfuls will be sufficient. This is a most filling and nutritious dish good for a meatless meal.

Bean Loaf.—Take one cupful of lima beans, soak over night and stew until tender, put through a sieve and season well with cream, salt and pepper, with a few dashes of red pepper, add crumbs and form into a loaf, steam or reheat in the oven and serve piping hot.

Have Quietly Put Their Shoulder to the Wheel.

One of the best attended gatherings in the school rooms of Immanuel Lutheran Church was held last Friday evening, June 14, as a rousing rally for the support of our country and flag by means of war savings stamps.

Arranged by the building committee, consisting of Pastor F. T. Schroeder, chairman, H. W. Gronemeyer, treasurer, P. Schloff, Fred Studd, Sr., and W. Buddenhagen, and assisted by the W. S. S. committee of the Immanuel and Young Men's Society, the following program was rendered:

1. Star Spangled Banner, by the audience.

2. Address by Pastor F. T. Schroeder.

3. Vocal solo, "God be with My Boy Tonight," by Gustav Koch.

4. Address by Waldorf Duennessmann.

5. Song by Thrift Stamp Committee, "The Story of Old Glory."

6. Address by Postmaster DeWitt, T. Closing song, "America."

The first speaker, Pastor Schroeder, explained in his address the plan which was adopted by the congregation of the Immanuel Lutheran Church in the last regular meeting.

Since the president of our country has requested all congregations to participate in the drive for the Third

War Loan, but that the

The congregation previously had created a building committee to erect a new school building with a large and spacious hall for the many social gatherings during the year. The funds collected for this purpose should be invested in War Savings Stamps and members buying Thrift Stamps could turn them over to the building committee and thereby save the two-fold purpose of helping Uncle Sam in this great war and also helping the church.

That the Immanuel Lutheran Church was willing to help

Uncle Sam and prove their loyalty as true Americans

invested 27,000 in Liberty Bonds and $300 in W. S. S. In active service of our country are 25 of their young men.

Waldorf Duennessmann, the next speaker, gave a rousing appeal to loyalty, and later in the evening he received many congratulations for his stirring address.

The main speaker of the evening, Postmaster DeWitt, in his eloquent manner, dwelt by short extracts from history what the German nation is and its relation to our country, and why we are in war.

"When the present world war began," he continued, "our president took the stand of firm neutrality. As the war was going on, England committed many acts through which we lost property. But property can be replaced. Germany committed acts by which many of our citizens lost their lives, and lives cannot be replaced. So war had to come.

"Americans of German descent have nothing to be ashamed of. They have a right to teach German in their schools. The government does not forbid it. But let them be loyal and stand behind the president, now as they have done in the past.

Regarding the W. S. S. the postmaster said it was the plan of our government and our governor that in the coming drive the head of every family should pledge himself to buy as many W. S. S. as he can. The average ought to be about $20 to December, 1918.

The first authorization card as a government agent for selling W. S. S. in Ulster county, N. Y., was issued to Pastor Schroeder. After singing the closing song, "My Country," a social hour was enjoyed by every one present.

METTACHONTS.

Mettachonts, June 17.—There will be an ice cream party held at the school house on Saturday evening, June 22. Everybody welcome. Proceeds for the Willing Workers.

The next meeting of the Willing Workers will be held at the home of Mrs. Jacob Hornbeck July 6.

Mrs. Russell Miller, entertained relatives on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Markle of Whitfield called on friends on Friday evening.

Mrs. Jane Osterhoudt spent Friday with Mrs. Jesse Osterhoudt.

We are learning that good, tasty food need not be of high cost.

Beef Liver With Onions—Slice the liver very thin. Remove all veins and dust with seasoned flour. Slice six onions thin and fry them until soft in a little bacon fat. Remove the onions on one side, turn, put the onions on top and finish cooking. Remove to a hot platter, add a little water to the fat in the pan to make the gravy, then pour it over the liver.

Hominy and Tomato.—Take two cupfuls of hominy and combine with well seasoned tomato, using a cupful seasoned with two tablespoonfuls each of fat and flour cooked together and added with salt and pepper to the tomato. Mix all together and bake in a well buttered baking pan, cover with buttered crumbs the last of the baking. Keep covered until the crumbs are put on, then let them brown and serve hot.

Vegetable Chowder.—Dice six slices of fat bacon and cook it until brown, add two onions sliced thin, and cook until soft in the bacon fat. Combine a can of lima beans with four large potatoes cut in cubes, and a quart of milk. Add the bacon and onions and cook until the potatoes are done. Thicken with two tablespoonfuls of flour mixed with a little of the cold milk, add four and a half teaspoonfuls of salt, a can of okra and stir in a can of tomatoes, adding a fourth of a teaspoonful of soda as they come to the boiling point.

Dried Beans With Cream.—Soak a half cupful of beans; any variety except the navy, and cook in the same water until tender. Season with salt and pepper and sweet cream; two or three tablespoonfuls will be sufficient. This is a most filling and nutritious dish good for a meatless meal.

Bean Loaf.—Take one cupful of lima beans, soak over night and stew until tender, put through a sieve and season well with cream, salt and pepper, with a few dashes of red pepper, add crumbs and form into a loaf, steam or reheat in the oven and serve piping hot.

Have Quietly Put Their Shoulder to the Wheel.

One of the best attended gatherings in the school rooms of Immanuel Lutheran Church was held last Friday evening, June 14, as a rousing rally for the support of our country and flag by means of war savings stamps.

Arranged by the building committee, consisting of Pastor F. T. Schroeder, chairman, H. W. Gronemeyer, treasurer, P. Schloff, Fred Studd, Sr., and W. Buddenhagen, and assisted by the W. S. S. committee of the Immanuel and Young Men's Society, the following program was rendered:

1. Star Spangled Banner, by the audience.

2. Address by Pastor F. T. Schroeder.

3. Vocal solo, "God be with My Boy Tonight," by Gustav Koch.

4. Address by Waldorf Duennessmann.

5. Song by Thrift Stamp Committee, "The Story of Old Glory."

6. Address by Postmaster DeWitt, T. Closing song, "America."

The first speaker, Pastor Schroeder, explained in his address the plan which was adopted by the congregation of the Immanuel Lutheran Church in the last regular meeting.

Since the president of our country has requested all congregations to participate in the drive for the Third

War Loan, but that the

The congregation previously had created a building committee to erect a new school building with a large and spacious hall for the many social gatherings during the year. The funds collected for this purpose should be invested in War Savings Stamps and members buying Thrift Stamps could turn them over to the building committee and thereby save the two-fold purpose of helping Uncle Sam in this great war and also helping the church.

That the Immanuel Lutheran Church was willing to help

Uncle Sam and prove their loyalty as true Americans

was evidenced by the fact that the members of the congregation have invested 27,000 in Liberty Bonds and $300 in W. S. S. In active service of our country are 25 of their young men.

Waldorf Duennessmann, the next speaker, gave a rousing appeal to loyalty, and later in the evening he received many congratulations for his stirring address.

The main speaker of the evening, Postmaster DeWitt, in his eloquent manner, dwelt by short extracts from history what the German nation is and its relation to our country, and why we are in war.

"When the present world war began," he continued, "our president took the stand of firm neutrality. As the war was going on, England committed many acts through which we lost property. But property can be replaced. Germany committed acts by which many of our citizens lost their lives, and lives cannot be replaced. So war had to come.

"Americans of German descent have nothing to be ashamed of. They have a right to teach German in their schools. The government does not forbid it. But let them be loyal and stand behind the president, now as they have done in the past.

Regarding the W. S. S. the postmaster said it was the plan of our government and our governor that in the coming drive the head of every family should pledge himself to buy as many W. S. S. as he can. The average ought to be about $20 to December, 1918.

The first authorization card as a government agent for selling W. S. S. in Ulster county, N. Y., was issued to Pastor Schroeder. After singing the closing song, "My Country," a social hour was enjoyed by every one present.

WANTED FOR FARMS

Kingston Has a Large Contingent to be Drawn On When the Harvesting Begins—Two Drafts Now in the Fields.

Enrollment of recruits for war needs to be placed on the farms as fast as help is called for by the farmers continues steadily and the best class of Kingston's sturdy, working citizens are ready to take off their coats and go to it.

Today's enrollment which brings the total up to more than 150, includes a number who are more or less familiar with farm work. Men who are able to handle traction engines are included in today's list which follows: Must ask for traction men, for those who are able to handle any kind of farm machinery or any other experts and the Chambers of Commerce can send you the men. Address Mr. Cochran, the Farm Labor Bureau, John street, Kingston. Tell him how many you want what part of the farm work they are needed in, and how long you want them and you will get results.

Anticipating a large need as soon as hay begins, which will then continue on through the summer until apples are picked, it is desired to enroll one thousand men in Kingston. It is desired that his number shall be recruited without delay.

TO BUY W. S. S.
OR EXPLAIN WHY

The drive is now on. The city will be solicited thoroughly by men who are volunteering for that purpose. They are placed in teams to cover that part of the city in which they think they can individually get the best results. The soliciting is going on and it is hoped the result will be the required number this week.

The second draft of volunteers has gone into the farm work. The first draft of ten men was taken by A. H. Cook. He was so well pleased with the men that he drew on the Chamber of Commerce for a second squad and was accommodated.

The latest enrollment is as follows: Peter Augustine, 70 Ann; Elmer Beckie, 29 Mill; Abraham Bahl, 43 Murray; Clifford T. Bennett, 45 Foxhall avenue; John M. Clark, 17 Mill; William F. Cody, 133 Hasbrouck avenue; Henry B. Cornelius, 193 Wall; Arthur Dietz, 86 Henry; Bernard Davis, 108 Broadway; John Dowd, 100 Broadway; Charles B. Finch, 17 Pearl; Luther Garrison, 350 Washington avenue; Dukes Jordan, 46 Meadow; Walter Jones, 120 Broadway; Albert Kaplan, 90 Broadway; J. C. Klein, 236 Smith avenue; Clarence J. Kelly, 133 St. James; Abe Lurie, 23 Chambers; Barney Lankis, 57 Meadow; Aaron Lipkin, 15 St. Mary's; Frank M. McCann, Wall and North Front; Arthur W. Maines, 7 Rogers; David Navy, 11 Mill; Thomas E. Nessel, 50 Hasbrouck avenue; Arthur Netburn, 72 Broadway; Edward Parish, 81 Hasbrouck avenue; William Parish, 81 Hasbrouck avenue; William Parish, 81 Hasbrouck avenue; Frank O'Reilly, 82 Broadway; Michael Ross, 150 Broadway; Michael Sherlock, 56 East Pierpont; Morris Shuster, 179 Hasbrouck avenue; C. J. Smith, 150 Broadway; Paul Schube, Meadow; Clark Snyder, 31 Green; William Smith; Munroe Kler, 3 Clifton avenue.

When people are absent when he calls an out-card will be turned in with his report. The absentees will be looked up if they are out of the city.

By proclamation of the governor, June 28, the last day of the drive, is to be registration day when all who have not purchased or at least pledged themselves to take war savings stamps are expected to appear at places designated as registration places and explain why. They will then be given the chance to sign up.

Every adult citizen is expected to buy at least one war savings stamp or register the pledge to invest in the specified amount of war savings certificates during the remaining months of 1918.

No pledge for less than one war savings certificate of $5 maturity value will be considered as the duty patriotically fulfilled by the citizen who wants to help win the war.

All who can show purchases for pledges before the drive begins will be relieved of the duty of appearing on registration day. They may be allowed to pledge more but their refusal in that case will be accepted without further inquiry.

High Powered Bread.

What do you think of a slice of bread that has the same food value as a beefsteak sandwich? It isn't a dream nor an exaggeration. It is a fact supported by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is based on chemical analyses of and experiments with soy-bean flour, a "new" product that is expected to "pinch hit" for wheat, and not only to do that, but to work in "meat's place as well. The "high-powered bread" that as the scientific resemblance to a beefsteak sandwich does not even use all of the "volume" of the soy-bean flour. This bread has been made from a mixture of 50 per cent soy-bean flour and 50 per cent wheat flour. It is extremely high in the protein element and is really a substitute for protein foods such as meat and cheese.

WILLIAM G. ANDERSON.
of 119 Highland avenue. Now serving his country in the United States Navy as mail clerk on the U. S. S. Calamaries, transport ship. Enlisted March 29, 1918, sailed for France April 16, making his second trip May 18, 1918. Mr. Anderson served a term in the U. S. navy at the time of the trouble with Mexico. Later he volunteered and went to Camp Whitman with Company M, this making his third time to serve Uncle Sam.

POOR COAL CAUSED

A carload of poor coal caused the local trolley road considerable trouble Sunday and the firemen at the power plant on the Strand in Ponckhookie had to work hard to keep up steam and generate enough electricity to run the trolley cars. Shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday evening the trouble started. The cars would run for a short distance and then were forced to stop until the power came on again. General Manager Tebow engaged a taxi to convey six Ponckhookie passengers to their home as the trolley car that was to have gone through only went as far as the ferry. Mr. Tebow said this morning that all of the people at Kingston Point Park were able to leave by trolley.

Children's Day Exercises.

Children's Day was observed Sunday morning at the Roundout Presbyterian Church with an exceptionally fine program which had been arranged by Superintendent Fred L. Van Deusen and his church staff of helpers. The church was artistically trimmed and decorated with flowers. The musical end of the program was in charge of Dr. C. H. Bishop, chorister of the Sunday school, while the choir, under the direction of Miss Los Kamp, the contralto soloist, assisted. The Children's Day program this year was of a patriotic nature, which was reflected not only in the music but also in the recitations of the children who had been carefully drilled by Mrs. Charles L. Coles.

The Rev. Dr. C. C. Ellis, pastor of the church, gave one of the finest Children's Day talks he has given in years, and the lesson he drove home was not only for the children but applied to the older folks as well. Dr. Ellis had with him what he termed his "little preachers." There was much curiosity among the children as he placed a hat box on the table and began his address. The contents of the box proved to be bottles tightly corked. The first was filled with pure water and no matter how hard it was shaken it never became roily. This was "Mr. Always to be Depended Upon." The next bottle when shaken became slightly roily. This was "Mr. Nearly Always to be Depended Upon." The third bottle when shaken became a fiery red. This was "Mr. Sometimes to be Depended Upon." The fourth bottle when shaken up, became extremely roily and took a long time to settle. This was "Mr. Hardly Ever to be Depended Upon." The fifth bottle when taken out proved to be filled with a dark liquor. This was "Mr. Never to be Depended Upon." By using these bottles as an illustration Dr. Ellis drove home the fact that the best men and women in the community were those who were like "Mr. Always to be Depended Upon." Dr. Ellis emphasized the fact that while outwardly we may all look to be pure and clean it was what was in our hearts that made us like "Mr. Always to be Depended Upon" or "Mr. Never to be Depended Upon." The only way that "Mr. Never to be Depended Upon" could be made like "Mr. Always to be Depended Upon" was by emptying the bottle and filling it with pure clear water. Though our hearts are black, God in His Book has promised to make them pure and clean if we will only let him.

The program was brought to a close with the singing of America. The exercises were considered the best held by the Sunday school in a long time, and reflect great credit not only upon those who took part but also upon those who had so carefully arranged the program.

Kingston Point Sunday Services.

A short religious service was held in the Casino at Kingston Point Park at one o'clock Sunday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. Howard Kanter of New Baltimore, who delivered a brief, but pleasing address on the subject of "Loyalty." Music for the singing was furnished by the Day Line Albany orchestra. The hold services at the Point every Sunday during the summer to which the public is cordially invited.

LETTER TO POSTMASTERS.

All These Officials Urged to Assist W. S. S. Drive.
The following letter has been sent out by Acting Central Postmaster William C. DeWitt:
Announcement to Postmasters of Ulster County.

The government expects every one of us to make special and earnest effort to bring Ulster county up to its proper place among the counties of the state in War Savings. Ulster is next to last and should not be. Dutches has purchased $500,000. Orange over $200,000 and Ulster only $65,000.

We are being criticised. Assist the chairman, captains and aides in the W. S. S. drive and get all the pledges and dispose of all the stamps possible.

STRAWBERRY CROP
NEARLY EXHAUSTED

Apparently 60 Per Cent Normal—
Five Million Dollars to Ulster Fruit Growers. This Year—Timely News of Other Fruit Conditions.

The warning has gone out. It's a short season. Pickings following the first are yielding but few strawberries in condition to pick for they don't mature or ripen fast enough.

An authority says five million dollars will have gone to the Ulster county fruit raisers when the season is over, when the last apple has been picked and the most is on the ground.

It's a sixty per cent crop of strawberries as it now runs. Raspberries look better. Currants from one-third to one half crop. Peaches, none.

All the strawberries that can be picked it is expected will be gathered and marketed this week.

Prices have rarely dropped below 20 cents. For a few days Kingston consumers were getting them at that price. Friday and Saturday they were paying that here while in Poughkeepsie consumers were paying 22 cents.

Growers on the same days were getting even more. Even as high as 30 cents f. o. b. at Milton was paid for a Saturday shipment.

Highly Remunerative.
Though prices have been so variable and quotations not usefully informative, strawberries have brought the producers greater financial returns than for years. A sixty per cent of crop harvested at a minimum cost for picking has proven highly remunerative.

Milton growers in some instances placed entire pickings in the New York market Saturday at 30 cents a box net.

Several Milton growers last April contracted their crops with the fruit preservative firm across the river, at ten cents a box.

A representative of a Boston house combed three towns hoping to make up one car Saturday. He was told nothing doing. The growers were not picking that day and they didn't have the berries.

Large Personal Gains.
Growers never sold at prices so high and in greater quantities from single pickings.

Thomas McManus was paid over $85 for thirteen crates at Milton docks which is 21 cents a box.

Dennis Mahoney received a check for $600 for two loads delivered at Milton docks.

Fred Viscount has been paid by the association $2,000 for strawberries, and his crop not all picked. He got one check for $400 for one day's picking, and another for $600 for a single day's picking.

Net prices quoted at Milton Saturday for producers:

Strawberries 15 to 22c
Raspberries 15 to 20c
Currants 15 to 20c
No quotations
Quotations were of no use where there were no berries.

Conditions governed offers. The Boston house says we need this car load at any price.

Growers answering the 'phone of most of the day said we have none. And so it went on.

One Year Fruit Was Plowed In.
With barely more than a week's picking and the 1918 strawberry crop almost gathered and promptly sold, strawberries may be in the market this week. Ninety-five per cent of berries picked have already been moved, according to the statement of Manager Ralph B. Crowell of the Hudson River Fruit Exchange, the association as it is called. The crop when picked will be a per cent under normal productions.

It's the earliest and shortest season in twenty years, was the statement all through the fruit section to the Freeman reporter, who made the trip among growers Saturday.

One year Ulster growers plowed under ripe juicy strawberries it didn't pay to pick.

Heavy Picking Stopped Short.
Lack of essential fertilizers, a sulking sun, the damp cold spell of last week and the red bugs, as murderously active as the Kaiser's submarines, are torpedoing Ulster's fruit crop.

The first picking was heavy though pickers came late and slow and growers are still short of the help that are needed. Five hundred are called for in the three southern Ulster Hudson river towns.

Then with barely more than a week picking it stopped short.

The Crop Was Short.
The second pickings were found to be strangely ragged. The fields were ineffectual to supply daily demand of buyers, including representatives from New York and New England produce houses.

The first time through the vines with heavy picking generally means a slackening in the follow-up pickings. This year notably so. In normal seasons the second picking yields three times the first. This year it was less than half the first. The growths were short. The lagged fruit is not developing and ripening.

Soil Weak and Tired.
In many patches there was not a respectable second picking. In others there was not even ready fruit to begin on. In none was the fruit sufficient to make a profitable picking.

So all picking stopped. Nobody picked on Saturday.

Improved conditions over Sunday will probably produce a good yield for the week.

The soil had become weak and tired. Nitrates used to quickly tend and invigorate are not to be had. The war is taking all of them. Manure can not replace nitrates. Had the condition been foreseen growers might have spread more manure compost freely in the winter.

for manure as too high, $1.20 to $1.40 in cold months delivery. In the summer they expect to pay 20 cents to 40 cents.

But the transportation of manure through the three towns, Marlborough, Milton and Highland, in the summer is forbidden.

Favorable for Bush Grown Berries.
In the later berrying that begins this week, raspberries, black berries and currants, better conditions are hoped for.

Jerome Pratt, one of the largest growers in that town, says: "There will be heavy picking while lasting," intimating practically the same in berries and currants as strawberries. Then he continued:

"Perfections Exceptionally Fine.
"Currants—Prospects for the wilders, one-third crop; the Paves a crop; Perfections, exceptionally fine with no shelling off at the ends of the stems, and ripening two weeks earlier than usual. Market conditions (June 15) fair, now selling in New York market at 15 cents f. o. b. at Highland station.

Red Bug Appears.
"Red Raspberries—Pull crop. Prospects good for big prices, as the Jersey crop is reported light.
"Grapes—Good prospects with at present no sign of destructive agencies. Too early to ascertain the sort of fruit we are going to get.
"Pears—Crop light. Fruit good.
"Apples—Crop light, especially Baldwins. The red bug which stings the apple has appeared. It is to be controlled by spraying with 'black leaf 40' at blossom time.
"Blackberries, badly frozen."
Inquiries in Milton brought the universal reply there will be no peaches. Peaches were frozen this spring.

Peaches Were Frozen.
"The strawberry crop is about all in the market," said B. Crowell, manager of the H. R. Exchange. The prices have been higher than we have ever known. Cherries are very light but bringing good money. Raspberries give promise of a good crop and are in the beginning of picking. As currants are to yield about one-third of the crop, high prices may be anticipated. All pears a fair crop. Apples the same. No peaches. They were frozen out in the winter.

High Grade Ammonia Used.
"Our growers usually dependent on what we call boy pickers are this season well supplied with boys from New York. We have many Italian residents who are the best and are dependable. This year they are somewhere in war service. So growers are shy on pickers. We get everything we want in fertilizers except nitrates. We are using the only substitute, or at least the best, which does not really take the place of nitrates. It is high grade tankage of ammonia. There is no scarcity of fruit packages, but the price has gone up about fifty per cent."

Directs Boy Pickers.
W. J. Weaver, who has the direction of the high school boys from New York city picking berries, is the director of the New York Zone, comprising Columbia and Ulster and counties down the river to the sea, for the New York State Boys' Working Reserve. Last year they were known as farm cadets.

Not Many Cherries.
"There will be not much doing over here in cherries," he said, referring to Ulster county. He is located at Highland, and is probably the best informed on fruit conditions. He looks for a large crop of cherries around Germantown.

Five Hundred Pickers Wanted.
Daily inspections of the fruit farms between Highland and Newburgh by Mr. Weaver in charge of the boys is a live man's job. He promises to receive and locate young pickers who fill the bill if the matter is first taken up with him.

Order of Picking.
The Boys Reserve Corps in the fields are less than 100.

Five hundred pickers are wanted

this week. They can be kept busy until August first. This week they would go into raspberries followed by currants. Later would follow cherries and blackberries and early grapes. In the meantime early pears with late grapes followed by late pears and then apple picking.

There are five camps in the lower towns and on down to Newburgh. Twenty boys and a superintendent should fill each camp. They are high school boys from New York.

Organized Picking.
Some of the camps have not got a full quota, but only high school boys in the services would be recruited to fill the camp quota. The camps at Marlborough are under the working direction of Harry Millsaps; to Newburgh H. J. McCreary.

Each camp has a trained boy cook. The boys pay their pro rata share for food. They are furnished domicile properly fitted with necessary conveniences. The cost of living for each boy is about $2 a week. They are paid two cents a quart for picking.

Big Pickers' Day June 21.
Working 6 1/2 hours a day the first day of picking they made from $1.25 to $1.40 each. June 24th is the big pickers' day. A boat load of reserves will be landed early in the morning at Poughkeepsie and distributed in camps where most needed. Only the boys who have had regents are brought out to pick in the reserves.

Chance for School Girls.
Camps of girls for pickers are favored if brought from the schools. N. M. Thatcher of Highland, located on the state road is to have a camp of girls foisted on to his premises this week. Those camps pointed out to the writer were farm houses in excellent condition given over to the superintendent and his squad. The boys are under absolute discipline.

Places For School Boys Out of Regents.
The large berry growing farms in Highland needing pickers are those of Jerome Pratt, A. W. Williams, D. Dean, George H. Brown, D. Mahoney, S. Vaccara, Frank Wilklow, Ed. McManus, Phil Wilklow, John Fischer, LeGrand Hartland, Charles Kniffen, Hart & McNicholas, Alfred Hooper. Some of the others are only partially provided.

In Milton there are John Shea, Ed. Young, A. Black & Son, James Powders, Richard Dowd, James Conklin, Mike Dowd, James Dowd, F. W. Vall, J. R. Clarke & Son, A. J. Palmer & Son, Fred Woolsey, A. J. Hepworth & Son, the fruit premium men, J. A. Driscoll, William Cubbard, Andrew Gersch, Ed. Martin, Thomas McManus, Dennis Mahoney, Fred Viscount.

Locating Boy Camps.
In Marlborough camps are being located at C. G. Velie & Son's, S. B. Wigan's, W. S. Wright's, F. J. Morrow & Son's, A. L. Morehead's, Thomas Conway's, G. G. Fowler's, William S. Purdy's, H. C. Wigan's.

Housewives Take Warning.
There will be probably very little canning of berries for the homes, owing to the prices of berries and sugar and the unusual limitations in both. But if berries are to be canned those who wait to get them at the low prices of past seasons will very likely find themselves without the fruit; or with the necessity of paying a price unusually large for canning purposes. The demand which will take all of the crop at prevailing and even higher prices comes from preservative farms.

Mass of Materials in Nest.
Sturdy a completely finished oriole's nest. What a mass of tangled filaments, strings, grasses, fibers! I have often wondered which was the first string that was put on, how was it put on, and what came next in the order of building, says Edward F. Bigelow, in Boys' Life.
